Questions Are Many As Social Credit Debated

Alberta Cabinet Hopes Legislature Will Rush Bill to Completion and Prorogue Tonight; Credit House for Payment of Basic Dividends

Van Allen, Liberal, Sees Farm Dangers

Canadian Press
Edmonton, Aug. 28.—With the decks cleared for action, the special session of the Alberta Legislature may be prorogued tonight. Government members were hopeful of speedy action on legislation at two sittings, afternoon and night, would clear the slate of legislation.

Most important bill before the House for today's sittings was the Credit House Act, a companion bill to the Social Credit Measures Act of last session.

Providing for establishment of a credit house through which the promised basic dividends would be paid, the new bill was introduced and prepared for second reading last night, and is expected to go through committee today.

A new bill on debt adjustment, regarded generally as potentially the most radical to be presented, was expected to be introduced and advanced to the committee stage rapidly.

FIRST OF KIND

The Credit House Bill, a 5,000-word measure described as "an act to provide the people of Alberta with additional credit," is the first legislation of its sort ever formulated for inauguration of Social Credit theories. Sponsored by Provincial Secretary E. C. Manning, the bill was introduced in the Legislature yesterday evening. It validates the order-in-council of last July 29 regarding registration of citizens for basic dividends set, but it was indicated, citizens would be classified and different amounts would be paid different classifications.

The bill says, "Alberta Credit means the facilities provided by the credit house for facilitating the exchange of goods and services within the province."

LEVY PROVIDED FOR
A levy on "unearned increment"—one of the three main features of Social Credit, the others being basic dividends and the others being basic dividends.

JAPAN TO MAKE CHINA DEMANDS

Tokio, Aug. 28.—Japan's war, navy and foreign ministers, conferred tonight on the newest troublesome Sino-Japanese incident and, the Domei News Agency, reported, agreed the Tokyo government must "deal sternly" with China.

Official spokesmen, however, insisted further information concerning the killing of a Japanese at Chengtu, China, by a Chinese mob, was awaited before the government's course would be determined.

Trotsky Interned By Norwegians

Government Reported Holding Soviet Exile and His Wife Because of Revolutionary Activities

Associated Press
Oslo, Norway, Aug. 28.—The Norwegian ministry of justice tonight was reported to have ordered Leon Trotsky and his wife interned and two of his secretaries expelled from this country. The Trotskyes, the report stated, will be confined in their house at Honefoss until a new domicile can be found for them.

It was understood the reason for the action was Trotsky's refusal to accept conditions which the government sought to impose for his continued stay in Norway, although it was announced earlier in the week he

WILL REPAIR VESSEL HERE

Job on Ss. Atlantic City to Aid Shipyard Workers for Two Weeks

Contract for repairs to the 6,000-ton freighter Atlantic City, which struck a rock in the Straits Tuesday morning, was this morning awarded to the Esquimalt firm of Yarrow's Limited.

The job will mean employment of twelve or fifteen days to a number of shipyard workers who have been idle during recent months. The contract price was not announced.

Several plates and frames will be replaced and repaired and other underwater work carried out.

The Atlantic City was floated out of the Dominion Government drydock at Esquimalt yesterday evening, following survey, to a room for the liner Empress of Russia, which was put in this morning for annual summer overhaul.

Work on the Russia is giving a day's employment to about 150 men. The Russia will come out tomorrow afternoon and the Atlantic City will probably be floated in Sunday afternoon, ready for the men to start Monday morning.

REBELS PLAN DICTATORSHIP

If Insurgents Win Spain Will Again Have King, With Army Rule

By ROBERT B. PARKER JR., Associated Press Correspondent
Burgos, Spain, Aug. 28.—The rebel high command mapped plans for restoration of the monarchy with a military dictatorship today, announced a new bombardment of Madrid and strengthened defences against a surprise advance on this Fascist headquarters by loyalists.

A military dictatorship will be constituted "indefinitely" to "exterminate" all loyalist elements and rule the country "without any parliament whatsoever," high officials of the Fascist junta asserted.

Then, they said, will come a plebiscite to determine on a restoration of the House of Asturias.

Close collaboration with Germany and Italy, "friendly nations" which Fascist leaders said have stood by the army in the present civil war, would be maintained, they declared. The junta planned to annul the Socialist government's extensive agrarian reforms (parceling of land among peasants) and planned restitution of all confiscated property, and asserted it had decided to punish provinces refusing to join in the revolt by "wiping them off the map."

Former King Alfonso, who quit the country in 1931, has been reported sent letters to colleagues in France and other countries, advising revolutionary activities.

NERVOUS IN COURT
Earlier in the day Trotsky, pale and nervous, told a crowded court he had sent letters to colleagues in France and other countries, advising revolutionary activities.

He was testifying against five Nazis accused of raiding his home in an unsuccessful attempt to obtain subversive documents.

The Bolshevik exile disclosed the chief of the French Trotsky group was a German, but declined to tell his name. Should the man be identified, Trotsky said, his relatives in Germany might be punished by Nazi authorities.

Trotsky was accused by the Soviet government of heading a plot against the life and regime of Dictator Joseph Stalin for which sixteen persons were executed in Moscow this week.

Mussolini's War Birds Poised

Ready for instant flight toward any goal, many of Italy's military planes were standing in lines on the Littoria airport near Rome when the above unusual picture was taken. The planes attached to Italy's armed forces are said to total nearly 4,000.

Loyalists' Position In Madrid Weakens Say Rebel Leaders

Government's Hold Becoming Precarious, With Many People Put to Death, Claim Insurgents; Sugar and Coffee Supplies Reported Exhausted

Aristocrats Among Those Executed

Associated Press
Rabat, French Morocco, Aug. 28.—Rebel radio broadcasts from Spain today declared the position of the government in Madrid was becoming precarious and that extremists were killing hundreds of persons in the capital.

The radio station at Jerez de la Frontera, near Cadiz, announced "a Madrid personality, now in Tetuan, Spanish Morocco, declared that in two nights the marxists killed 2,000 persons in Madrid."

Sugar and coffee supplies of the capital are exhausted, the station added.

ARISTOCRATS EXECUTED
Madrid, Aug. 28.—(Canadian Press from Havas).—One hundred Spanish aristocrats, former diplomats and bankers today were reported executed by government firing squads.

In appraisal for the attempt to fire the model prison here last Monday and liberate rebel sympathizers.

The mass execution was one of the most sweeping yet ordered by the people's tribunals.

At the time of the fire the prison was crowded with Fascist, rebel and anti-government leaders, most of whom were believed destined for the People's Front firing squads. Quick action by the fire department and the soldiers prevented the blaze from spreading, and frustrated the jail break.

EX-MINISTERS SHOT
Among those reported executed were Gen. Ovidio Capas, who won military honors under the Lerroux government, former Minister Melquiades Alvarez, former Foreign Minister Martinez de Velasco (his trial was reported to have been held yesterday before three ex-prisoners acting as judges); Admiral Francisco Salas, former Minister of Marine; Rico Avello, former Minister and High Commissioner for Morocco; Dr. Jose Maria Albina chief of the Traditionalist Party; the Marquis de Urquijo, one of the most important bankers of Madrid, and Fernando Primo de Rivera, a cousin of the Fascist leader, whose father was the former dictator.

IL DUCE MAY VISIT HITLER

Canadian Press from Havas
Berlin, Aug. 28.—The Havas News Agency tonight said there were reports in Berlin Premier Mussolini will visit Chancellor Hitler here late in September. Origin of the reports was not given. Mussolini has not left Italian territory since 1923.

RECOVERY OF FEES SOUGHT

Action Against B.C. Tomato Marketing Board Initiated Here

A legal battle over the collections of levies from Vancouver Island tomato growers by the provincial marketing board, was initiated here today.

For the growers Frank Higgins, K.C., claims the collections are made in violation of the Provincial Marketing Act, which, he says, does not provide for collection of such fees.

Mr. Higgins said he would start action next week to recover money paid the board by the growers.

The board collects three and a half cents a crate from the growers, through its agency, and this money is devoted towards the board's expense.

George Riddle, chairman of the marketing board, said he had received no word of Mr. Higgins' impending action, but if the case reached the board would defend itself under its powers as outlined in the Natural Products Marketing Act.

Life In Danger

SPAIN'S ENVOY TO BRITAIN QUILTS

Canadian Press from Havas
London, Aug. 28.—Julio Lopez Olivan, Spanish ambassador to Great Britain, announced his resignation today, reportedly as a protest over the Madrid government's swing to the extreme left.

One of Spain's best known diplomats, Lopez Olivan was named to the London post two months ago when Ramon Perez de Ayala was recalled.

GREETERS AT TRAIN EARLY

London Lord Mayor Appears Hour After Toronto Committee at Station

Canadian Press
Toronto, Aug. 28.—Unheralded and unattended by anyone except his own esquires and footmen, Sir Percy Vincent, Lord Mayor of London, stepped off his private car in Toronto at 8.30 this morning—just one hour after a civic reception committee in morning coats and silk hats had greeted the train that brought him in.

The committee hurried to the private car. After a few moments a man dressed in street clothes came out looking puzzled. He introduced himself as Cyril Gamon, the Lord Mayor's private secretary.

"Didn't you get my telegram?" he asked. The committee hadn't. Sir Percy was still in bed.

Surprise Planned by Hitler, Say Russians

Associated Press
Moscow, Aug. 28.—Official organs of the Soviet government and the Communist Party sounded a simultaneous "warning" today that Chancellor Hitler is preparing a new surprise which will bring Europe closer to "slaughter."

Lavells, the government organ, and Pravda, the official party newspaper, professed to see in violent anti-Soviet attacks by the German press a "provocative campaign of preparation for new foreign political adventures."

FARMERS' INCOME IN U.S. GROWS

Associated Press
Washington, Aug. 28.—A cash income to United States farmers of $735,000,000 in July, the largest recorded for any month since 1929, was reported by the Department of Agriculture today.

WARMEST DAY IS RECORDED

Temperature Around Noon Hour Today was Eighty-two Degrees

Victoria at present is experiencing its warmest weather of the season. Between noon and 1 o'clock this afternoon the official temperature at the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill touched 82 degrees. Early this afternoon it dropped to 80 degrees, forced down by slightly cloudy skies and a breeze from the sea.

Yesterday the temperature rose to 79 degrees.

This morning the weather map pointed to conditions becoming slightly unsettled during the next day or so.

The present summer has provided some of the finest weather ever enjoyed in Victoria. Only once since early in July has there been rain.

Every day there has been brilliant sunshine.

As the autumn approaches, the weather continues fine and warm. Except for the shorter evenings and the falling leaves, there is no change from midsummer. Yesterday saw one of the most perfect evenings of the summer. There was not a breath of wind. A bright moon and brilliant stars made a fairy-like scene in the parks and gardens and off the waterfront. Hundreds of beach fires dotted the shoreline from Race Rocks clear around to Cordova Bay. Corn roasts and sing-songs were the order of the evening.

Although the summer is waning, there may be hotter days in store for Victoria before the next few weeks are finished. In 1934 September saw a temperature of 87 degrees. The heat record for Victoria was established in June, 1925. The thermometer rose to 95 degrees at that time. The hottest day last year was August 28, when the temperature was 88.

August 15, 1933, it was 90 degrees.

WORKER DROWNED IN FRASER RIVER

Canadian Press
New Westminster, Aug. 28.—William Haywood, forty-five, of North Vancouver, was swept away and drowned today when he fell from a cribbing work on the old New Westminster bridge across the Fraser River.

Fellow workers believe Haywood was seized by a fainting spell and tumbled into the fast-flowing river. Police dragged for the body, which might be carried for some distance down stream.

Soviet Proposes Military Sanctions In Reformed League

Bold Scheme for Reshaping of Association of Nations Is Offered at Geneva

Associated Press
Geneva, Aug. 28.—Soviet Russia tonight proposed a bold scheme of League of Nations reform which would force almost immediately military sanctions against any nation making war.

Russia, in making the proposal, opposed amendment of the League covenant as impractical, but recommended adoption by the Assembly of a special protocol by which, in the event of war, the League Council would be summoned within three days.

Within another three days, the Council, by a three-quarters vote, would decide whether circumstances existed calling for the application of punitive measures.

MILITARY ACTION
The salient feature of the Russian scheme is a provision under which sanctions could be taken, automatically and immediately, by states having a mutual assistance agreement—even if the League Council should fail to agree on who was responsible for the war.

League members would agree that such sanctions against a warring state would not be deemed acts of aggression.

ALL TO SHARE
Should the Council decree economic and financial sanctions, under the Soviet proposal, all League members would be bound to contribute.

Controlled Russian newspapers today charged Germany was preparing a surprise move which would bring Europe closer to war.

The League Assembly will meet in the third week in September, principally to discuss proposals for League reform.

ARGENTINE PLAN
Recommendations that the League covenant be co-ordinated with the Briand-Kellogg pact outlawing war and a peace agreement signed at Rio de Janeiro in 1933, were understood to be contained in a League communication from Argentina.

Aldermen Support Principle of Move to Secure Lower Civic Debt Carrying Charges; Disagree on Details

To Meet Again Monday Evening

The City Council today adopted the civic refinancing programme submitted to it by C. S. Henley, appointed him fiscal agent for the project in negotiations in Great Britain and eastern Canada and left until Monday evening the appointment of city representatives to go with him as well as allocation of expense money.

The plan was approved in principle at a special session of the council this morning. Heated debate developed over incidental details and the recommendation from the finance committee governing the issue was altered.

The motion passed by the City Council was as follows:

"That the City Council endorse the scheme submitted by C. S. Henley and appoint him fiscal agent.

"That the council give the city's representatives power to negotiate and conclude the arrangements with the bondholders."

Before going into camera, Alderman Brown presented the finance committee's recommendation, which read as follows:

ORIGINAL RECOMMENDATION
"Our committee endorsed the scheme submitted by C. S. Henley. Mr. Henley placed the immediate expenses in connection with the visit to Great Britain and eastern Canada at $15,000, and we recommend this sum be paid to Mr. Henley forthwith."

"The balance of $15,000 will be payable to Mr. Henley on the adoption and acceptance of the refunding programme by the city. The above fee to include transportation, hotel and other expenses to Great Britain, New York and Toronto and return of His Worship the Mayor, the chairman of the finance committee and the comptroller, cost of all meetings, clerical help and his agent's fee."

"That the council give the city's representatives power to negotiate and conclude the arrangements with the bondholders."

In another clause, tabled for consideration on Monday evening, the committee recommended that the sum of $3,000 be provided to meet incidental expenses of the city's representatives in connection with the above."

COMPROMISE REACHED
During the camera discussion, the city's governing expenses and personnel of the city's delegation was widely discussed and the compromise scheme, which was eventually adopted, substituted for the original clauses.

After the scheme had been outlined in detail in letters from Mr. Henley, Alderman Brown reminded the council of the general trend towards reduced interest.

He thought direct contact with bond-holding interests would be much more successful than long-range negotiations or action of placing a gun at the bondholders' heads.

"It seems to me that if the scheme were put into operation it would put the city on its feet and increase the value of city bonds," he said. "We'd have money for street repairs, funds with which to consider wage restoration and have money on hand."

Alderman Lunney raised a question over discussion of rates with London.

SAYS COST REASONABLE
Alderman Brown noted the cost of $3,000 might be considered too high, but other methods of securing reduction in debt-carrying charges would be infinitely higher.

Britain-Egypt Pact Welcomed

New Treaty Is Step Ahead, Say Papers

Majority of London Journals Greet Pact As Promising Gains for Both Countries and Ending Old Irritations

London, Aug. 28.—Warm congratulations to the negotiators of the Anglo-Egyptian treaty were offered today in editorials in most of the London newspapers although The Daily Mail and The Morning Post were critical.

The Times said "the importance of the treaty cannot be exaggerated. The conversion of the uneasy, unequal and uncertain association of the last eighteen years into a friendly alliance between two equally independent, sovereign states is a diplomatic success on which both governments and their representatives are to be heartily congratulated."

The News-Chronicle said: "The treaty is even more satisfactory than had been expected. The negotiators of both nations are to be heartily congratulated on their wisdom and moderation."

PAST FORGOTTEN
The Daily Herald believed mass opinion of both countries would be more than satisfied. "The unhappy past can now be forgotten," it said. The Daily Telegraph referred to the treaty as an alliance between two free nations.

The new treaty shows that "Great Britain, while giving her hand gives also her trust," it said. "This time there are none of the old fatal ambiguities in the terms of the instrument."

The Daily Mail, however, described the treaty as "a blow to empire security" while The Morning Post said: "The worst anticipations are confirmed. The treaty looks more like the beginning than the end of trouble."

TERMS OF TREATY

Canadian Press
London, Aug. 28.—The text of the Anglo-Egyptian treaty signed Wednesday will be published today.

Sources close to Anglo-Egyptian affairs looked on the treaty as heralding the dawn of a new era of co-operation between Great Britain and her Near Eastern ally.

Egyptians were especially satisfied with those clauses of the treaty which affect capitulatory rights. The system by which foreigners who committed crimes or misdemeanors in their country were not subject to the jurisdiction of their courts but must be turned over to consular courts of their own nationals had long been an irritant to Egyptian pride.

Under the treaty, Great Britain will support Egypt in negotiations with the powers concerned for abolition of capitulatory rights.

If the negotiations are successful, foreigners will thereafter be tried by mixed British and Egyptian courts during a transitional period, and finally by purely Egyptian courts.

Other restrictions on Egyptian sovereignty, such as the limited application of certain legislation to foreigners having capitulatory rights, will also be removed, it is believed, and Egypt can bring the powers to an agreement.

TROOPS AT CANAL

British troops will no longer garison Cairo, but will be withdrawn to the banks of the Suez Canal, under the treaty, where the Egyptian government is to build barracks and where a force not exceeding 10,000 land forces and 400 pilots. The British air force will be allowed to fly over the whole country, however.

As an offset to the withdrawal of British troops from the major part of Egypt, the Egyptian army is to be increased and strengthened. Its training is to be supervised by a British military mission. Its armament and equipment will be identical with those of the British army.

SUDAN PLANS

The status of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan is not changed by the treaty. Its sovereignty will continue to vest in Britain and Egypt jointly, but Egyptian troops will henceforth assist in its defence.

The term of the treaty is twenty years. Any revision, however, must be in accordance with the following principles:
1. Neither party will adopt an attitude or conclude a treaty inconsistent with the alliance of Britain and Egypt.
2. Britain and Egypt will consult each other with a view to peaceful settlement of any dispute with a third state threatening a risk of rupture of relations with that state.
3. In the event of either party being engaged in war the other will come to its aid as an ally, subject to its obligations under the League of Nations or the Kellogg Pact.

SIR E. BEATTY NOW FREEMAN

C.P.R. Head is Second Given That Honor by City of Vancouver

Vancouver, Aug. 28.—Sir Edward Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, became the second person to be made a freeman of the city of Vancouver today when Mayor G. G. McGeer, as a Jubilee honor, conferred the freedom of the city at a Board of Trade luncheon in the Hotel Vancouver attended by 400 Vancouver business men. Sir Edward now shares the honor with Sir Percy Vincent, Lord Mayor of London, who came out recently to take part in the Golden Jubilee.

Freedom of the city, Mayor McGeer said, was conferred on Sir Edward in recognition of the great part he and his company had played in assisting the Jubilee, and in recognition of the fifty years of mutual association between Vancouver and the Canadian Pacific.

Another signal honor fell to Sir Edward when he was voted an honorary life member of the Vancouver Board of Trade, Major Harold Brown, past president, presenting the scroll. "This is the western end of the greater portage in the world," Sir Edward told his Vancouver listeners. "It is inevitable that the production of the fertile plains of western Canada will give you a steady stream of outward commerce, and that, in turn, assures to you a position as a port of entry for the goods which you pay the prairie farmer for his produce."

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Aug. 28.—Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, today stated his faith that the world faced nothing remotely like an overproduction of agriculture.

"For some years now," he said, in addressing the Vancouver Board of Trade, "world consumption of wheat has exceeded production, and, with every readiness to admit this condition may be attributed to a series of crop failures, I should like to record the view that there is not the least reason for real pessimism concerning the country's ability to market its agricultural products abroad."

NATIONALISM PROBLEM

"There are no few difficulties in the way. International relations are far from perfect. Economic nationalism—often quite defensible on the ground that no nation can afford to be unprotected economically in a world in which other nations are violently nationalist—is playing its part in limiting that ready exchange of goods and services which our modern civilization has been built. With all the difficulties, however, I remain optimistic concerning the restoration of world commerce."

In a world in which the demand for food and raw materials increased steadily, a country such as Canada should be able to look forward to a steady expansion of its foreign commerce. "Our experience has been that this brings with it industrial development," he said.

TRADE EXCHANGE

It seemed inevitable that Vancouver, now celebrating its golden jubilee, should continue to grow and thrive, but the realization that Vancouver's life must depend for its development on more than the great riches of British Columbia. Back of the mountain barriers was the agrarian empire of western Canada.

"It is inevitable," said Sir Edward, "that the production of the fertile plains of western Canada will give you a steady stream of western commerce, and that, in turn, assures to you a position as a port of entry for the goods which you pay the prairie farmer for his produce."

FRENCH WHEAT MINIMUM FIXED

Canadian Press from Havas
Paris, Aug. 28.—The price of wheat in France was fixed at 139 francs about $9.03 per quintal, the council of the National Wheat Office announced today. (A quintal is about 3.7 bushels.)

After it had fixed the minimum price, the council agreed that the quintal price of 139 francs should be increased by one franc each month until January 31, after which an increase of fifty centimes would be added each month until June 30, 1937.

Mayor to Make Strike Speech

Dore of Seattle to Speak in Everett on P.I. Dispute, Now in 15th Day

Seattle, Aug. 28.—Mayor John P. Dore agreed today to make his second speech for the Seattle chapter of the American Newspaper Guild in its newsroom strike against The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, which suspended publication August 14.

The mayor, who bitterly assailed The Post-Intelligencer and its owner, William Randolph Hearst, at a public address here Tuesday, said he would speak for the guild under the auspices of the Washington Commonwealth Federation at 8 o'clock this evening at Everett, thirty miles north of Seattle.

Listed with Dore as speakers were Raymond D. Holmes, head librarian for the newspaper until the strike; Howard G. Costigan, executive director of the federation, a political organization sponsoring a "production-for-use" movement, and several delegates endorsed by the federation.

Hal Dunleavy of the Snohomish County (Everett) branch of the Commonwealth Federation said an effort would be made to organize a citizens' committee to aid the guild, which struck in protest against the discharge of two of its members.

PAPERS NOT HANDLED

A labor movement to block the distribution of other Hearst newspapers for the duration of the strike appeared when members of the ferryboatmen's union refused to handle a consignment of 1,500 copies of The San Francisco Examiner ordered for Bremerton. The Examiner was distributed in other parts of the state. E. E. Wetland, president of the Steamship and Timber Workers' Union at Aberdeen on Grays Harbor, said places which handled the Post-Intelligencer would be asked to refuse to sell The Examiner.

PROLONGED CONTEST

As the newspaper entered its fifteenth day of suspension, there was no indication of a break in the deadlock. Executives of the Hearst newspaper and of The Post-Intelligencer held firm in their refusal to deal with the Guild. The Guild members, backed by the Seattle Central Labor Council, settled down to organizing for a prolonged siege.

A ten-day jail sentence was given Harry Weibing, twenty-nine, a logger, in police court yesterday in connection with a disturbance outside The Post-Intelligencer plant August 14. Detective Lieut. Arthur J. Hill was injured by a hurled fire plug.

Syracuse, N.Y., Aug. 28 (Associated Press).—The New York State Federation of Laborers at its closing session adopted a resolution pledging support to the Seattle, Wash., Post-Intelligencer Newspaper Guild strike and denying that collective bargaining "jeopardizes freedom of the press."

The resolution condemned what it said was a Hearst policy "of dragging a red herring of freedom of the press into the dispute."

The resolution was one of 200 adopted by the federation last night.

MOCK WAR IN ENGLAND ENDS

Holiday-makers Determined to Join in Army Manoeuvres

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Aug. 28.—"Cease fire" has sounded over the south coast of England.

For days grim-visaged, if mimic, war raged over the Sussex Downs—northland, southland, eastland and westland fought to the death—without a single casualty.

Merle arguments horrified mild-mannered historians by searching for the golden fleece in the wilds of Sussex. Bright young staff officers found holes in the League of Nations' covenant not yet discovered, even by wily diplomats of Geneva.

FIELD KITCHEN BORROWED

It has been a high and gay adventure. The hungry "invaders," with nothing but iron rations, borrowed a field kitchen from the gallant defenders, which, if it isn't exactly war according to Hoyle, is at least chivalry.

Excited holiday-makers were so determined to join in the fight that police had to be called in to put them out. Two little boys committed high treason by rescuing an enemy general, stranded in the surf. One wild night some breakfasts got lost on crowded roadways and the contending armies had to fight on all alone.

PEACE HERE IS WORLD EXAMPLE

Canadian-U.S. Links Are Mr. Justice Davis's Theme at American Bar Luncheon

Associated Press
Boston, Aug. 28.—Mr. Justice Henry Hague Davis of the Supreme Court of Canada declared today that the United States and Canada are "an example for the world."

Speaking at the American Bar Association's annual luncheon, he said the things "we differ in are purely political. The things we are alike in are as deep rooted as life itself. One in a thousand years of historical background, with a common language, a common literature, a common law, common ideals of law and liberty, a common belief and confidence in responsible government, a common love of freedom and a common faith in one God and Father of us all."

STRONG FRIENDSHIP

"The relations between Canada and the United States have issued in the staunchest of international friendships. Such a friendship is one of the greatest reconciling ministries of this period of the world's history."

"May we not fervently hope that all things between us may at all times be so ordered and settled upon the best and surest foundations that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety, may be established among us for all generations."

MEN IN POLISH MINE STARVE

"Skull and Crossbones" Hoisted Over Scene of Hunger Strike

Associated Press
Beuthen, Polish Upper Silesia, Aug. 28.—The "skull and crossbones" was hoisted to the top of the shafthead frame today, by 300 miners entering their fifth foodless day in a strike for payment of back wages.

The deathhead, visible for a radius of one mile, symbolized grimly the desperate situation of the strikers within the mine. A number already had collapsed from hunger and exhaustion.

District authorities, hoping to end the strike, voted money sufficient to pay a portion of the overdue wages. The cash was laid on a table and sent to the bottom of the shaft, where the strikers saw it was only a portion of the money demanded, they voted to continue the hunger strike.

AIRDROMES AT MADRID BOMBED

EXECUTIVES COMING HERE

Insurance Men of Northwest to Hold Two-day Congress September 15 and 16

One hundred and fifty officials and salesmen of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, including the president and vice-president, are expected to arrive in Victoria, September 15, for a two-day "sales congress," according to W. W. Macdonald, local manager.

Plans for the convention are now being drawn up, and a full programme will be ready for the delegates from Alberta, British Columbia, Oregon and Washington when they arrive.

Leroy A. Lincoln, president of the international company, accompanied by his wife, will make his first trip to Canada since he was appointed to his present post, it is announced.

Representing Canada will be H. D. Wright, Ottawa, second vice-president and Canadian manager, and Freeman D. Smith, Ottawa, superintendent of agencies.

Fyederick H. Ecker, New York, chairman of the board of directors, Henry D. North, New York, and Ernest H. Wilkes, New York, vice-presidents, will also be present.

Delegates to the convention will leave here on the afternoon of September 15 for Seattle, in company with thirty representatives from Victoria. The convention will be continued in that city.

The sessions here will be held in the Empress Hotel.

LOYALISTS' RIFLES SEIZED BY REBELS

Seville, Aug. 28.—One hundred thousand rifles distributed in the Badajoz district by the People's Front government were "recovered" by the rebels, according to a broadcast from the radio station here today.

An earlier broadcast said a munitions factory and an electric transformer plant at Toledo were blown up by insurgent aviators who bombed the city.

ITALY ENFORCES ARMS EMBARGO

Associated Press
Rome, Aug. 28.—Italy officially announced today an embargo on all war materials to Spain.

The decree forbids "exportation, direct or indirect, or re-export for transit with its destination Spain or Spanish possessions or the Spanish zone in Morocco, of arms, munitions, war materials, also airplanes, mounted and unmounted, and warships."

"The prohibition applies to all contracts in the course of execution," the decree said.

The Italian government earlier had announced it considered the ban on armament shipments already in effect, but the decree apparently was designed to answer a request by Great Britain and France for a formal declaration.

DESTROYER ADDED TO U.S. NAVY TODAY

Associated Press
Boston, Aug. 28.—The United States navy formally placed in commission the $4,000,000, 1,850-ton destroyer Moffett, at the navy yard here today.

Admiral Walter R. Gherardi, commander of the first naval district, went aboard the craft here yesterday accepting it for the United States and placed it in command of the Commodore A. H. Addams of Norfolk, Va.

The Moffett is named for Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, who died in the crash of the dirigible Akron in 1933. It is the sister ship of the Phelps and the Clark, both commissioned here this year.

OCEAN FLIGHT SET FOR SUNDAY

Associated Press
New York, Aug. 28.—The scheduled round-trip New York-London flight of Harry Richman and Dick Merrill was postponed today until Sunday because of takeoff difficulties and unfavorable weather conditions over the Atlantic.

The bill provides that:
NO COURT ACTIONS
"No action or proceeding of any kind shall be maintainable in any court of the province in respect of any matter or thing contained in any agreement signed in connection with registration."

The credit house shall be under the management of a board which shall consist of not more than five persons appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

The act is set to come into force on a date to be fixed by proclamation of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

The credit house shall begin its operations only with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. The credit house is empowered to take currency and all kinds of negotiable instruments and give Alberta credit in return.

The credit house is empowered to loan "Alberta credit" to any person engaged in agriculture or manufacture or industry in the province, and to any person entitled to Alberta credit to defray any of the cost of the building of a home or the establishment of such person in any business, vocation or calling.

For loans given, the credit house "may take securities by way of a mortgage on any growing crop notwithstanding anything contained in the Bills of Sale Act or any other act to the contrary." There will be no interest payable on such loans.

"No Alberta credit shall be deemed to form any part of the income of the person for whom the same is provided nor shall it be subject to taxation," says the bill.

COVENANTS CRITICIZED

Though the Aberhart government has fifty-six supporters in the Legislature, against seven, it did not have too easy a time in the debate. Yesterday evening George H. Van Allen, Liberal member for Edmonton, criticized in detail the "covenant" the government requires citizens to sign before receiving dividends. Under the covenants citizens agree to co-operate with the government.

The farmers' covenant, said Mr. Van Allen, was a "preposterous proposition." The farmers, he added, would regret having signed it, "as they were agreeing to submit to 'Pascific government'."

MANY QUESTIONS
Bombarded with questions from the opposition—five Liberals and two Conservatives—Premier Aberhart agreed to answer them. After declaring he was "overwhelmed by the voracity, avidity and passion of the opposition," he said 108 questions in fifteen sections were "too much" for a short special session called to deal with an urgent situation.

Mr. Van Allen withdrew a statement which said "Alberta credit," by which dividends will be paid, was counterfeited after the retraction was demanded by Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister without portfolio.

POPE STUDIES SPAIN CRISIS

Despite Serious Illness, Pius XI Discusses Problems Created by Civil War

Associated Press
Castel Gandolfo, Italy, Aug. 28.—Pope Pius XI, weary and ill, mustered his waning energy today for a fresh study of the Spanish civil war crisis.

Prelates said the Pontiff's anxiety over the turmoil in Spain had done much to nullify any beneficial effect of his summer sojourn in the Alban Hills.

Nevertheless, His Holiness arose soon after dawn, as is his custom, and a few hours later was in deep consultation with Cardinal Pacelli, Papal Secretary of State, over latest Spanish developments.

"The Pope's ailment was said to be endocarditis, inflammation of the heart. He is seventy-nine years of age."

STUDIES STARS
The Pope turned from the discouraging world to take comfort in philosophical contemplation of the heavens. Father Giovanni Stein, director of the Vatican observatory, presented to His Holiness photographs of the heavens, and a comet which Father Stein recently discovered.

The Pope observed sadly: "If things on the earth go badly, at least those in the heavens must necessarily continue well."

Persons who saw him today said he spoke in a very low voice.

TO ATTEND SERVICE

Preparations were being made today for an exequy service in St. Peter's for the deaths of priests and nuns and the destruction of churches in Spain. It was planned for the Pope to attend the service, assisted by all the cardinals now resident in Rome.

Hearst Scored By U.S. Teachers

Resolution Passed by Federation Said to State Views of 20,000

Associated Press
New York, Aug. 28.—Rev. Dr. Jerome Davis, president of the American Federation of Teachers, said today the federation had adopted a "strong resolution" concerning William Randolph Hearst.

The resolution, Dr. Davis said, provided that the federation form a central and local committees "to organize a boycott against Hearst newspapers and all other agencies of communication under his control," and to oppose candidates "whose principles and programs are those of Hearst."

The resolution was adopted August 21 at the federation's national convention in Philadelphia. Dr. Davis, who is an associate professor at the Yale Divinity School, said the federation represented approximately 20,000 public school and college teachers throughout the nation.

Hearst was characterized in the resolution as the country's "outstanding jingoist," a "constant enemy of academic freedom," and the "chief proponent of Fascism in the United States."

HEALTH PLANS IN ONTARIO

Toronto, Aug. 28.—The Toronto Mail and Empire today said:

"Four test areas have been chosen for the inauguration of a health insurance plan sponsored by the Ontario Medical Association, and the scheme will begin operating in these districts on October 1, it was learned yesterday."

"The four areas that have been requested their selection for tests—or have been chosen by the committee of the association—are Simcoe County district, London, Hamilton and the Windsor area, where the Essex County Medical Society has already erected the framework for a plan through its original development of medical relief administration along actuarial lines."

"Details of the plan—its cost, method of local administration, and so on—have not been divulged."

SUNLIGHT IS AID TO TEETH

Canadian Press
London, Ont., Aug. 28.—The excess amount of sun during the last summer has practically eliminated all danger of tooth cavities for many months to come, according to Dr. Hugh Stevenson, member of the Ontario Public Utilities Commission.

The average person in Ontario got more sunlight this summer than in any other period in modern times, claims Dr. Stevenson, a retired dentist. The sunlight, he said, has an electrolytic action on the waste materials of the skin. It precipitates calcium which is absorbed by the bones and teeth, strengthening them.

Euler Tells Of New Trade Plans

Arrangements Made With Several European Countries, Says Minister on Return to Canada

Canadian Press
Quebec, Aug. 28.—Satisfactory trade arrangements had been made with several European countries, Hon. W. D. Euler said here following his arrival from Europe yesterday aboard the liner Empress of Britain, but he would mean his colleagues at Ottawa before discussing them in detail.

The Dominion Minister of Trade and Commerce spent more than two months abroad, discussing Canadian trade in London, Berlin, Moscow, The Hague and Bern.

England, Mr. Euler said, appears prosperous. Iron and steel industries were working full force, and the country was determined to keep out of war, the minister said.

Both Switzerland and Holland were faced with difficulties in finding markets for their exports because they remained on the gold standard, Mr. Euler added.

Asked if he intended to visit Australia and New Zealand in connection with the revision of trade agreements between those countries and Canada, Mr. Euler said: "Somebody will go." Whoever went would leave sometime in October or November, he said.

The minister left for his home in Kitchener, Ont., and will return to Ottawa next week.

TO ANNOUNCE APPOINTMENTS

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 28.—Considerable progress has been made on the work of preparing several important statutes for proclamation, and the government will probably make announcements at the end of next week on the numerous appointments involved.

Statutes concerned include reorganization of Canadian National Railways management with creation of a board of seven directors, Bank of Canada Act amendments requiring the acquisition of sufficient new shares to give the government majority ownership, and the appointment of additional directors, reorganization of the Canadian Broadcasting Commission and creation by merger of two big departments.

Numerous bench appointments ranging downward from the office of Chief Justice of Ontario and a judge of the Supreme Court of Canada to county court vacancies, await attention, and several lieutenant-governors are to be named.

The next cabinet meeting will be Tuesday, and there will be at least three sessions during the week. It is expected, following the return to Canada yesterday of Trade Minister Euler, that the cabinet will be at full strength for next week's meetings.

Premier Walks Out of Session

Adelaide, South Australia, Aug. 28.—A stir was caused at the Australian Premier's Conference here yesterday when Hon. R. L. Butler, Premier of South Australia, walked out of the assembly room in protest against "high-handed action" by the Commonwealth.

The conference was discussing matters affecting the Commonwealth and the states and their mutual relations.

W. F. Morgan, Premier of Queensland, moved that a system of excise duties and export bounties should replace the machinery destroyed by a recent judgment of the Privy Council, holding Commonwealth acts restricting interstate trade in dried fruits invalid.

AMENDMENT RULED OUT
An amendment to the motion, recommending a change in the constitution which would grant the powers of which the Commonwealth had been deprived, was moved by Lieut.-Colonel M. F. Brunner, deputy premier of New South Wales, and was seconded by Premier Butler.

Commonwealth Prime Minister Joseph Lyons, however, refused to accept the amendment, contending the Commonwealth should not accept dictation from the states. Premier Butler thereupon walked out.

Lt.-Col. Brunner's amendment was finally rejected, the delegates from South Australia, Western Australia and Tasmania dissenting.

In a statement later, Premier Butler declared: "If this is the attitude the Commonwealth is adopting, it is a pity the conference met."

MINISTERS ARE ON VACATION

Hon. R. R. Bruce Soon to Go to Tokyo; Sir H. Marler in West

Ottawa, Aug. 28.—The Canadian legations in Washington and Tokyo will remain unoccupied until late fall, it has been learned, while ministers designate to these posts attend to affairs in Canada and prepare for their departure.

Sir Herbert Marler, who was minister to Japan, since the opening of the legation there ten years ago until his recent transfer to Washington, is understood to be holidaying in western Canada. His health suffered considerably during his last year in Tokyo and he is endeavoring to recuperate. In any event there would be little for him to do in Washington until the United States election campaign is concluded.

Hon. Randolph Bruce, minister-designate to Japan, who has been holidaying in the Maritime Provinces, will proceed shortly to his home in British Columbia to prepare for his term in the Orient. He is a former Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia.

State Many in Madrid Executed

Two Spanish Insurgents Give Story to Havas Correspondent at Burgos

Havas News Agency Correspondent
Burgos, Spain, Aug. 28.—Allegations of 50,000 "jailbirds" and "Marxist" firing squads are circulating from 200 to 300 persons daily were made to this correspondent today by two men—one a well-known Spanish financier and the other a major in the rebel guards—who escaped to this rebel stronghold.

Both the informants begged that their identities be concealed, declaring their relatives still living in Madrid were certain to suffer horrible reprisals if the sources of information became known.

WOMEN'S SHARE
The women in the Red ranks are most bloodthirsty of all, the major said. He cited as an example the following passage from a letter one woman wrote to a friend at the front: "We are having an amusing time in Madrid these days. Every morning we go to watch priests being shot."

The financier's account centred chiefly on the "economic atrocities" allegedly committed by the "Red ruffians" whom he described as "former boot-black, busboys and domestic." The major told a lurid story of armed bands completely out of control of the leftist government, roaming the streets with rifles and revolvers, ready to shoot down almost any passerby at a moment's notice.

GERMAN ARMY COSTS INCREASE

Raising of Conscription Term to Two Years Means Added Outlays; Government Seeking New Sources of Funds

Associated Press
Berlin, Aug. 28.—Nazi rearmament costs shot higher this week, but Germany's search for a new pot of gold with which to pay for men and arms continues unfulfilled.

Government loans, increased taxation of income, high funneling of financial and economic wells and Spartan belt-tightening have been employed to meet the bill in part.

But the debt, avowed and unavowed, has continued to mount.

Some experts, in the absence of a public budget, calculate the total public debt in the neighborhood of 60,000,000,000 marks (nominally $24,000,000,000). But they assert $40,000,000,000 marks more ($16,000,000,000) could be borrowed.

During 1935, a total of 1,200,000,000

New Training for French Youth Urged

Canadian Press from Havas
Paris, Aug. 28.—The military committee of the French Chamber today was faced with a demand France establish military training for its youth under conscription age and create a billion-franc fund to finance the project.

The demand was presented to the committee by Communist Deputy Marcel Gittion yesterday evening.

The political bureau of the French Communist Party last night warned France that it "must take measures to cope with the threats weighing on the nation."

The bureau scored a rumored project for a French loan to Germany.

HEARST SAID TO GUIDE LONDON

Secretary H. L. Ickes Scores Publisher and U.S. Republican Candidate

Washington, Aug. 28.—Secretary Harold L. Ickes said in a campaign speech yesterday evening that William Randolph Hearst is "the new Republican boss" and that sworn court testimony showed the publisher had cautioned Governor Alf. M. Landon "against talking too much."

"A word of caution from that source was all that Governor Landon needed," Mr. Ickes added. The cabinet officer's speech, broadcast by the Democratic National Committee, concluded:

"Do the American people want it to be Hearst over the White House? This is one of the most important issues, if not in fact the transcendent issue, of this campaign."

Mr. Ickes utilized evidence he said was given in an Illinois court last July 1 by George F. Harding, newly-elected Republican national committeeman for Illinois, in discussing what he called "the relationship existing between Governor Landon and Mr. Hearst."

MEADDO SPEAKS

San Francisco, Aug. 28.—Senator William G. Mead, caustically attacking the Republican Party's candidate and activities, yesterday evening praised New Deal legislation as whipping the depression, and charged the Republican campaign "sets a new low point of intelligence and courage."

Addressing a Democratic dinner gathering, which launched President Roosevelt's campaign in California, Senator Mead said to doubt Democratic victory in November is "to insult the intelligence of the American people."

Population Swing In Irish Free State

Dublin, Aug. 28.—The population of the Irish Free State has declined 6,142 in the last ten years and now stands at 2,965,850, it was revealed yesterday when the new census figures were made public.

It had been expected the new returns would show a substantial increase over those of the 1926 census, when a total population of 2,971,992 was registered.

MAN DENIES HE SIGNED PAPERS

Vancouver, Aug. 28.—J. H. Grace of Vancouver, whose name appeared on the nomination papers of R. C. Walker, Socialist candidate in the Vancouver-Burrard provincial election, yesterday evening declared he had not affixed his signature and asked that his name be withdrawn.

"I never signed this man's (Walker's) nomination papers," said Grace. "I do not know the man personally, and it would appear to be a clear case of impersonation. I wish my name to be withdrawn from this whole affair," he added.

Returning Officer Robert M. McGinn, to whom Grace made the protest, said that as far as he was concerned the paper was in order, and if there was to be any action taken it would have to come from Grace.

TOOK CARAVAN 18,000 MILES

Four Vancouver Islanders Return From South Africa With Plants and Pictures

Back from an eighteen-month caravan tour which took them over 18,000 miles of road and an ocean, four Vancouver Islanders have interesting stories to tell of the excitement to be found in South Africa shooting big game with a camera and going off the beaten tracks in search of botanical specimens.

Mr. and Mrs. Lionel E. Taylor, who operate a bull farm in West Saatchi, their daughter, Miss Marie Taylor, and Colonel G. A. Duncan left Victoria on February 1 of last year in a sixteen-foot motor caravan.

They traveled south by easy stages to New Orleans, whence they sailed on March 6 for Capetown. From Capetown the caravan took them over 10,000 miles through the whole of South Africa. They sailed from Durban on May 24 of this year and returned by Zanzibar, the Indian Ocean, the Seychelles and Manila.

During the tour, the Taylors and Duncan took 1,500 photographs, 800 of them in natural color and collected over 15,000 plants.

During the tour, the Taylors and Duncan took 1,500 photographs, 800 of them in natural color and collected over 15,000 plants.

PLANTS COLLECTED

The gathering of these plants was the main object of the expedition. Mr. Taylor hopes to introduce some of the tropical specimens to California, and believes some of South Africa's alpine flowers may flourish on Vancouver Island.

During their long journey they had no engine trouble at all, but found that the remote tracks of Africa were hard on springs. They broke five sets during their trip.

The four travelers have many interesting stories to tell of stalking lions with their cameras in Kruger National Park, an area of 8,000 square miles, where visitors are fined by the government if they are not back in their camps by 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon because of the danger of wild animals, and of the behavior of the remoter tribes.

They were impressed especially with the prosperity of the Union of South Africa, where they found no unemployment.

TO GIVE LECTURES

Mr. Taylor will make use of the material which he has collected in the course of a lecture tour which he will begin in November, and which will take him down the Pacific Coast, through the southern states, up the eastern seaboard to New York and then through eastern Canada.

Until that time he will be busy classifying his botanical specimens and getting the party's great collection of pictures sorted and made into lantern slides.

Asked this morning if he was planning any more trips he laughed and said, "I hope to, some day."

GROUPS FIGHT IN MANCHUKUO

Japanese Report 21 of Their Soldiers Killed As Bandits Battle

Associated Press
Tokyo, Aug. 28.—The Domei (Japanese) news agency reported today twenty-one Japanese soldiers had been killed in encounters with Manchurian bandits in the last two weeks.

Bandits estimated to number 800 were said to have surrounded a Japanese company east of Pihaien Wednesday, and to have fought a night-long battle which ended yesterday afternoon when Japanese planes from Hankow came to the aid of the infantrymen.

The Japanese lost seventeen dead, including a captain, in that clash, the report said.

In a conflict Monday at Mulan, 150 bandits were reported to have been driven off after a two-hour fight in which four Japanese were killed. The bandits' losses, the dispatch declared, were believed to have been heavy.

MONGOLIAN QUESTION

Peiping, China, Aug. 28.—Lieut. Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, Japanese supreme military commander in Manchukuo, said yesterday evening the Japanese army "does not dream of action and has no aims" in Inner Mongolia.

The general outlined the Japanese stand on Inner Mongolia, adjacent to Soviet-supported Outer Mongolia and Japanese-sponsored Manchukuo, as he passed through Peiping by airplane from an investigation in Suiyuan province. There, recent disorders resulted in reports the Japanese had sent troops into Chahar and Suiyuan provinces preparatory to occupying Inner Mongolia.

Gen. Itagaki, head of Japan's formidable war machine on the Asiatic mainland, denied Japanese troops had entered the two Chinese provinces.

KING IS PRAISED AS PEACE AGENT

Canadian Press
Halifax, Aug. 28.—"If a European was to be prevented, King Edward VIII is the man who can do it," Major J. S. Roper said today addressing a local service club on his experiences at the Vimy Memorial unveiling.

The former Dominion president of the Canadian Legion said Canadian pilgrims to the ceremonies in France and Great Britain were impressed with the international popularity of King Edward.

Gains Claimed In Cancer Treatment

Hendry Connell Research Foundation at Kingston, Ont., Says Year's Work Proves "Ensol" Has Place in Fight

Canadian Press
Kingston, Ont., Aug. 28.—The Hendry Connell Research Foundation, set up here to experiment clinically with "ensol," a cancer treatment developed by Dr. H. C. Connell, today issued a bulletin reviewing treatment of 382 patients.

The review says: "A year ago it was announced that a biological substance, probably an enzyme, had been discovered that appeared to arrest growth of the cancer cell in the human body. That statement has been confirmed by biopsy, post-mortem examination of tissues, and by clinical results."

"With few exceptions cases treated have been far advanced in the progress of the disease. Most of them had received all that could be done by surgery, X-ray and radium. In this way the test of the value of ensol treatment has been a severe one. Over 16,000 injections of ensol have been made at Kingston and in no case was there any harmful reaction noted."

"On the other hand, in most cases it was evident that some important and beneficial change took place in the patient."

"Biopsy and post-mortem examination of tissues as well as clinical change prove this to be the case. Recovery of the patient depends upon the extent of damage to tissue and function before the malignant process was arrested."

CONCLUSIONS REPORTED
Seven conclusions are reached in the bulletin, based on the treatment of 382 cases:

"1. Ensol has been proved to affect beneficially late and advanced cases of cancer for which previously accepted methods of treatment have been totally ineffective."

"2. It is premature to state how valuable ensol will become as a therapeutic agent in cancer."

"3. Ensol should be used in cancer in all stages, early and late. It must be left to the discretion of individual clinicians whether they will combine it with surgery, X-ray and radium treatments."

"4. Ensol, when employed pre-operatively, has reduced in size and softened the growth."

"5. Ensol should be employed post-operatively in all cases."

"6. Ensol should not be withheld in advanced cases where permanent changes are not likely. It will, in 95 per cent of cases, palliate pain and render fatal termination less distressing."

"7. In the 382 cases of this series the death rate was 47 per cent. This figure may appear high, but it must be realized that 53 per cent of hopeless and abandoned cases are now alive."

YEARS NEEDED FOR NEW TEST

Australian Doctor, Visiting Kingston, Ont., Sees Hope in Ensol Treatment

Canadian Press
Kingston, Ont., Aug. 28.—Continuation of Dr. H. C. Connell's ensol treatment for cancer "gives promise to elucidate some of the mysteries surrounding the causation, diagnosis and treatment" of the disease, Dr. Neville Davis of Sydney, Australia, said here today. He is in Kingston in the course of a tour made to study cancer treatments in behalf of the Australian government.

"The public must be educated to expect improvement in cancer mortality," said Dr. Davis, speaking generally on the disease and warning that the word "cure" should be removed from its vocabulary.

"It will take several years to determine how great will be the influence of this latest treatment on the death rate from cancer," he said, "but it is a forward step."

He added the treatment had been started in Australia a year ago and would be available on a large scale in the future.

Sharp Fight at Addis Ababa

Addis Ababa, Aug. 28.—Fifteen Italian native troops were killed and thirty wounded in repulsing an attack by Ethiopian "bandits" on this capital, the Italian military command announced today.

Native Ethiopian troops under Ras Hallu, who has joined the Italian forces, aided Askari detachments and Blackshirts in repelling the attack late yesterday, it was announced.

Twelve thousand Ethiopians attacked and left 200 dead on the battlefield.

Development of the newly proclaimed Italian empire was predicted in financial circles to be the object of new tax-exempt bonds to be floated abroad in foreign currency.

An Important Educator

HON. S. F. TOLMIE WAS QUITE right when he told the Rotary Club yesterday that, as an educator, the Victoria Fall Fair is—or, at least, should be—a valuable asset to this community.

When this annual assembly of the visible products of Vancouver Island and from points far afield opens next month, the exhibition will be celebrating its seventy-fifth anniversary. And it is fitting that on this particular occasion Dr. Tolmie himself should be the presiding officer of the organization sponsoring the event.

The annual Fall Fair, as we have said many times in these columns, is our "shop window"—and it presents an opportunity for other communities to bring together tangible evidence of what they can produce.

In support of Dr. Tolmie's appeal, therefore, we suggest that Victorians in particular, and Vancouver Islanders in general, patronize next month's exhibition in the most practical way possible.

Life Today Is Different

MOST OF US HAVE AN ERRONEOUS idea of what the horse and buggy era really was like. Unless our memories are fairly long and accurate, we assume that the horse and buggy occupied much the same place that the automobile occupies today. We think of it as the ordinary mode of conveyance for the ordinary family; that the average man was as used to viewing the open road over the jogging Old Dobbin as he now is used to viewing it over the bright nickel of his radiator cap ornament.

A recent advertisement points out that this assumption is entirely false. Today, this advertisement discloses, nearly three out of four families have automobiles. In 1900 not one urban family in 100 had a horse and buggy. The overwhelming majority of persons who lived in the horse and buggy age, in other words, did their living without the aid of the horse and buggy.

Arrival of the automobile age—symbolizing not merely the automobile, but all the other mechanical gadgets of the present—did not merely enable the average man to do in a new way what he had formerly done in a less efficient way; it enabled him to do things which previously he had not been able to do at all.

It completely altered his way of life and changed the whole complexion of his world. Today he can own his own means of transportation; in the horse and buggy age he could not. The fact that the automobile has it all over the horse as a means of getting from place to place is purely incidental.

That, perhaps, is why we seem to be having such a hard time getting adjusted to this new age of inventions and mechanics. We are living in a new world. Human life is actually lived differently today than it was in our fathers' day.

Consider, for instance, a day in the life of a housewife. She telephones her grocer and gets delivery of assorted fruits and vegetables which have come, literally, from the four corners of the earth. Then, after putting them in her electric refrigerator, she gives the rugs a whirl with the vacuum cleaner, sends some clothes through the electric washing machine, reads an airmail letter written the day before by her sister in the east, and goes up to town to get her hair set.

This finished, she gets in her car with a friend, drives into the country or stops at a movie, perhaps sees a newsworld of the rebellion in Spain, comes home and eats a dinner cooked by gas, electricity or oil, turns on the radio and listens to music or addresses from the four corners of the continent—and, finally, dons pyjamas made of an unbelievable combination of sawdust and acid, and goes off to bed!

Her life differs from her grandmother's more than her grandmother's differed from the life of a woman in the days of Queen Elizabeth. Like all the rest of us, she is part of a dazzling and bewildering new world.

Metals Also Grow Fatigued

SAFETY IN BUILDINGS, OR bridges, and on the highways, depends upon how correctly engineers can estimate the strength of steel.

One way of learning something about this vital matter is to place a steel bar in a special machine which pulls it apart and records the strength of pull necessary to do this, just as is done with our lumber in the University of British Columbia laboratories. Then the engineers see to it that a bar of this kind will only have to stand a small fraction of this rupturing strain. But sometimes after long use, a steel bar may fail even though the forces involved have been well under the supposed breaking point. "Fatigue failure" it is called.

Why is it that steel—and other materials, too—possesses this very human characteristic of getting tired? Two English physicists, Dr. H. J. Gough and W. A. Wood are among those who have given an answer. To find out what was going on inside of pieces of steel they shot penetrating X-rays through them. Reflected on a photographic plate, the rays formed a pattern which showed that the solid bar was really a structure of minute grains—hundreds of them to the inch. Then they subjected the steel to all sorts of maltreatment and watched the X-ray patterns closely. Long before a piece broke, a breakdown of its internal structure could be seen developing.

In a fresh piece of steel the grains are arranged in a way which gives great strength to the mass as a whole. But violent strains continued long enough may produce changes. The grains seem to go to pieces at the boundaries, breaking up into much smaller grains—so small that tens of thousands would only line up to an inch. These tiny "crystallites" (as they are called) are not regularly arranged as are the initial grains. The steel loses its virgin strength.

Fortunately, however, scientists Gough and Wood found that there is a safe maximum under which no amount of abuse seems to cause this crystalline disintegration. It is incorrect to speak of "crystallizing" as a cause of steel failure. Steel always has a crystalline structure. But when fatigue occurs, larger crystals break down into much smaller ones, according to these investigators.

The British Soccer Season

TOMORROW IN GREAT BRITAIN the football season will open in earnest. Of what interest the "season" is to thousands of Victorians is borne out by the number of telephone calls received at this office every Saturday morning between the waning days of August and right on into the early days of the following summer.

Between ten and one o'clock tomorrow the Sports Editor of The Times will be asked to tell some Scotsman what happened in Glasgow or Edinburgh, some Englishman what happened to his pet clubs in the first, second, or third division... and all this goes on until the sports page has been "made up,"—and then it has to overflow to the front page. The front page, of course, carries the last-minute news.

Tomorrow's opening of British soccer, however, presents a melancholy spectacle. There are Old Country football fans in Victoria who for years have followed the fortunes of Aston Villa and Blackburn Rovers. These two clubs, wealthy in the managerial sense but very considerably out of luck in points and goal average, will play their first games in their history in the Second Division.

Both Aston Villa and Blackburn Rovers will take their steps down the soccer ladder with good grace. They will remember, in their efforts to climb back, that they have purloined the English Cup many times, and that their record in a great game has been well and truly played.

The Free State's Funeral

ACCORDING TO A DISPATCH from Dublin, the population of the Irish Free State has declined very considerably in the last ten years. It had been expected that when the new census returns were made public the other day that a substantial increase would have been shown. It proved to be the contrary.

There is a reason for this. When the gentleman who is the President of the Irish Free State—not knowing quite what he wants—gave rein to his doctrinaire formulas after he assumed office, to use a colloquialism, does not know whether he is coming or going. He wants the south of Ireland to be a republic and is still trying to manufacture some sort of political machinery which will produce a Utopia—with himself taking the credit.

Many people of the Irish Free State, not relishing a future existence under the present governmental dispensation, are not happy in their political surroundings.

Notes

Mussolini may try to match British sea strength. Parity begins at home, is his revised motto.

That pall of smoke over the southern horizon is probably caused by the screen players burning their diaries since the Mary Astor case.

Jesse Owens's mother said her boy never ran away from a problem. It might be taken as a lesson to others, since nobody could out-distance one, if Jesse couldn't.

A skunk walked on to a Chataqua stage as a man was singing "I Got Plenty of Nothin'." After the creature left, the singer probably had a scent.

Fear, according to a dispatch, paralyzed a New York woman who faced electrocution. But that is nothing; recall what it did to the League of Nations.

If, as a current poster states, life is just one stop sign after another, it seems that such busy little men as Hitler and Aberhart, Mussolini and Townsend, do not have time to read.

Canada has three assets of which few countries can boast, and they mean safety and a future of definite promise. Mr. Dudley Dawson, general manager of the Dominion Bank, reminded London in an interview in Canada's Weekly, "By her geographical position," he said, "Canada is isolated from the trouble of Europe. She has a friendly neighbor to the south and an abundance of natural resources still undeveloped."

Two days ago this dispatch came from Quebec: "One of the first moves of Quebec's new Premier, Hon. Maurice Duplessis, after taking office, was to cut his own salary and those of his Cabinet Ministers. He also announced plans to reduce sessional indemnities of members of the Legislative Assembly. The Premier rushed through an order-in-council cutting his salary from $14,000 annually to $12,000. His Cabinet Ministers each received a cut from $8,000 to $7,000." We shall hope that Mr. Duplessis and his colleagues will not find it difficult to keep the wolf from the door under this salary cut.

LOOSE ENDS

Mr. Mussolini tells them what to think—and it would be jolly over here, too—Comox feels badly—the ladies love blood—And in England they have a good time.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

CENSOR

THE MANCHESTER GUARDIAN recently secured and printed a copy of Mussolini's weekly instructions to the Italian press. It is an illuminating document. Editors are ordered not to mention any successes by the government of Spain in the civil war and to emphasize the success of the Fascist rebels. They are to mention only in a few lines the success of the Common Front strikes in France. They are to talk feelingly and with admiration about the British Empire (the Ethiopian war being over again). They are to print headlines eight columns wide praising the League of Nations speech of Mr. Eden ending sanctions against Italy. They are not to mention at all the continual promotions of Mussolini's sons in the army and so on with all the news of the day.

People here who have a secret regard for Fascism ought to imagine for a moment what a Canadian newspaper would be like under a dictatorship of the Right. The weekly letter of instruction to editors would probably go something like this: "No mention is to be made of the Burdard by-election. The result may be printed in two lines on a back page, preferably hidden among classified advertisements. No reference may be made to Rev. Robert Connell. Expansion of the country's foreign trade should be emphasized at least once a week, but no figures on unemployment are to be printed. On no account must any editor publish a letter from Hans Kroeger or Guy Sheppard.

The name of Dean Quinlan shall not appear in any newspaper in a favorable light. His speeches and sermons must not be reported at all. There shall be no report of golf tournaments in which the former Liberal politician, John Hart, wins; if Hart is beaten, sports editors should emphasize his defeat. Never print anything unfavorable to the brewing interests, which, as all editors know, are loyally supporting the Fascist regime. If editors wish to refer to the man who once wrote Loose Ends in the newspapers and is now in a concentration camp at Great Slave Lake, he must be described as the Communist conspirator, or the well-known Red agitator. The Gumpie comic strip may be printed and also forecasts of the weather, if good weather is forecast but not otherwise."

SLANDERED COMOX

COMOX HAS BEEN SUFFERING for some time from a grudge against us down in Victoria. It says we don't appreciate it, one of the loveliest spots out of doors. Mostly we don't appreciate its salmon—that is the big complaint.

"You would think," said one of the leading citizens of Comox to me the other day, "that there were no salmon at all except off Campbell River. You would think that the only Tyne in the world were hatched there. I want to tell you, boat for boat, we have been catching just as many down here. More, maybe. But Campbell River has the reputation. You fellows have built up a legend about it. Now you can't persuade most people to fish anywhere else." It is, indeed, a terrible injustice. I said I would point it out to the public, but I suppose nobody will pay any attention.

Have you noticed, by the way, the innumerable pictures of women in the newspapers clutching giant salmon (dead and bleeding) in attitudes of supreme affection? There were three such pictures in the last issue of this newspaper. The women have discovered the pagan joy of blood sports and when they take anything up, like cigarette smoking, for instance, they always go to excess. When a man catches a salmon he is pleased, of course, but he is a little sorry for the salmon. When a woman catches one—as you can see by the leers pictured in the newspapers—she has no pity, no remorse, only a savage ecstasy not pleasant to look upon. Into a fine sport, as into bridge and poker, she introduces the element of acquisition and commerce, the desire to catch as much fish as possible and a love of killing for its own sake.

Women's place as I have always said, is in the home. Let her do her killing according to the Culbertson system. It is distressing to see her nature brutalized in real butchery; and, besides, if she keeps on this way, there won't be any salmon left for us to kill.

THIS ENGLAND

THE NEW STATESMAN AND NATION, of London, each week makes a collection of bits from the British press which, with the well-known English capacity for self-criticism, provide a refreshing cross-section of British civilization. Consider these items:

Advertisement in South Bucks Free Press: Five thousand books wanted by gentleman, for recently purchased country house, to fill library. Subject immaterial, but must be clean. No dealers.

From The Daily Express: The Rev. C. Ensor Walters was presented by some of his friends at Central Hall, Westminster, last night, with a salmon car (automobile). He said: "It will be God's chariot. It will not be for joy-riding. I hand it over to the service of God." Mr. Walters added that he hoped he and his wife would go in the car on a holiday to Cornwall today.

From The Daily Herald: With regard to Lord Strabolgi's suggestion (that there should be Royal Air Force women pilots) Lord Swinton said: "We could not agree that a fighting formation, such as the reserve would be, should recruit women pilots. War was a beastly enough thing, and he did not want to add to it."

Sir Robert Gower, M.P., in a letter to The Manchester Guardian: "The Middle Danube Valley is a seething cauldron of discontent so that at any time a spark applied to the tinder might result in an outbreak leading to a world conflagration."

From The Leicester Evening Mail, reporting a cricket match: Another batsman was adjudged lbw (leg before wicket) and this player was so displeased at the umpire's decision that he sat down in the middle of the wicket and did not move. After waiting for about half an hour, until the time for the Lord Watson innings had almost expired, the batsman still showed no signs of moving, so the Sheshaped players walked off the field and the match was abandoned.

But a written in The Star reached the final height of eloquence with this: "Who, said Franklin D. Roosevelt, was a spent force? His Philadelphia speech might have been made by Shelley—had Shelley been of more robust, practical frame and a modern American statesman."

Or, of course, if Mr. Roosevelt had been an English poet of the Romantic Revival.

STEAM ROADS WAKING UP

From The St. Thomas Times-Journal

Another instance where the steam roads are at last waking up to meet all kinds of competition is the report that at some United States stations automobiles are provided for their patrons to use while doing business between trains.

An educated weaking is a disappointment; an educated rascal is a menace.

—Dr. Bruce R. Baxter.

Letters To The Editor

WELL, WHAT OF IT?

To the Editor:—Accept thanks for publication of my letter regarding Hon. Ian Mackenzie's pronouncement in connection with Lord Kilbank's speech at Toronto.

If I was at fault as to what the noble lord actually said I can only make the excuse that you had the advantage of me in having read a morning paper to which I do not subscribe, and therefore have to rely upon The Times as my authority. I might, however, call your attention to the leading editorial on Saturday last in The Vancouver Province, which I believe we both receive, by perusal of which you will observe I am not alone in my criticism.

It is a pleasure to know that you found something humorous in my letter and I hope you may find something of the same in this. It is said occasionally that the Scot lacks a sense of humor and there may be a modicum of truth in that and the further north in Scotland one goes the truer it may be that the Highlanders are a very serious people. The Lord of Kilbank comes from the south, the Hon. Ian from Sutherlandshire and I (a very long time ago) from the "Kingdom of Fife" near the middle.

With regard to the possibilities of future wars, you have referred to the prolonged condition of peace between Canada and the United States as an ideal to be attained by European nations, but the prevailing conditions in the two hemispheres are far from being analogous. The racial suspicions and hatreds of the numerous nations with their congested populations, with the frequent changes of government and forms of government added, make comparison with conditions obtaining in North America impossible.

Who would have predicted fifteen months ago that Italy within a few months would invade Abyssinia and in a few more months conquer that country in spite of the League of Nations. Total disregard of a solemn covenant, airplanes and poison gas miles if possible. A short time ago someone wrote a letter to a newspaper here or in Vancouver twitting the British newspapers about protesting the action of the German seppeln Hindenburg in flying over England and giving it as his opinion, "Could not mind it flying over Montreal, as it did." The Hindenburg was then carrying passengers and mail. Who is to prevent it returning at a future date carrying bombs?

Several years ago the Italian General Balbo (Mussolini's right-hand man) made a "goodwill" visit to the United States with a fleet of planes.

The official report of that flight supplied to the Duce would no doubt make interesting reading. Italy now claims to have a fleet of bombers with an offensive radius of 5,000 miles.

Why does our Pacific neighbor continue increasing armaments? Evidently he is not going to be caught napping or it is simply a pacific gesture perhaps.

He is a reckless man who predicts there will be no more war and we should not at least emulate the reputed habit of the ostrich. Do the Olympic games results mean anything?

H. ROBERTSON.

(Editor's note:—The leading editorial of last Saturday in The Vancouver Daily Province says, in part, of Hon. Ian Mackenzie's reference to Lord Kilbank's speech in Toronto: "There is a peevishness and foolishness in this outburst of the national defence minister's which deserves only an amused silence." Yet The Province devoted nearly half a column to maintain its "amused silence." However, the writer of the above letter is entitled to his colloquy on many other topics.)

SHOW BOAT SERVICES

To the Editor:—At the request of the committee in charge of the Sunday evening services on the Show Boat, I am trying to arrange for a remodeled choir for the evening of September 6.

May I use the medium of this column to extend an invitation to the members of the various choirs in the city and those that took part in the massed choir at the Armories last year again to assist in this splendid community service?

As soon as arrangements can be made a rehearsal will be called. Music will be provided of well-known choruses, and may we ask for the co-operation of all singers?

FRANK TUPMAN.

2830 Heath Drive.

HIGH FINANCE

From The Edinburgh Scotsman

Beggar (to gentleman)—Can't you give a poor man a penny?

Gentleman—Haven't any change now. I'll be back soon.

Beggar—Ah, sir, it's giving credit to men like you that keeps me poor.

Parallel Thoughts

If the wicked restore the pledge, give again that he had robbed, walk in the statutes of life, without committing iniquity; he shall surely live, he shall not die.—Ezekiel xxxiii 15.

A wise man will make haste to forgive, because he knows the full value of time and will not suffer it to pass away in unnecessary pain.—Rambler.

Legal Questions

The service supplied by this department is free to readers of The Times. Please send the question to the publication here of the answer to every question sent in, but all questions will be referred to the by mail if accompanied with a 3-cent stamp. Communications will be treated as confidential.

Question: If a man buys a house, and on investigating finds that it is in ruinous condition, can he repudiate the purchase?

Answer: If the vendor did not actually represent that the house was in good repair, the purchaser would be bound by the contract.

King Dances Often With American

Mrs. Ernest Simpson And Husband Guests on Nahlin Trip

Canadian Press
 London, Aug. 28.—King Edward VIII's democratic bearing as a prince at many a dance party and recurring rumors of his "impending engagement" to most of Europe's princesses have kept the gossip writers alive to romance, but almost blind to everyday friendship.

Yet for two years an American woman—Mrs. Ernest Simpson—has been one of his most frequent dancing partners. Mr. and Mrs. Simpson occasionally attend dinners given by the King, and they are now aboard the yacht Nahlin as the sovereign takes his holiday in Adriatic waters.

When an official court circular announced Mr. and Mrs. Simpson, as among the guests at a royal dinner the British news magazine Cavalcade published a column about Mrs. Simpson and her acquaintance with King Edward.

The story says she was often a chaperone at parties at which the King—then Prince of Wales—was present, and found herself dancing more and more frequently with the Prince, while someone else took over the formal duties of chaperonage.

Mrs. A. Watt Talks to W.I.

Canadian Press
 Vancouver, Aug. 28.—"There is nothing too good for the country women," said Mrs. Alfred Watt, M.B.E., president of the Associated Countrywomen of the World, told delegates to the convention of Women's Institutes held yesterday.

"City women expect too much from country women," she continued. "They think that they ought to supply them with cheap food and often the only return they make is to litter up country roads with picnic debris. Many city women might well emulate the rational living of their country sister."

Mrs. Watt described the origin and financing of the Associated Countrywomen of the World, which includes nearly 100 free and independent large organizations, united through a central office in London, Eng.

In speaking of education of rural children Mrs. Watt stated that in her opinion farm boys and girls should not only be educated for farm life, but should first be taught the cultural subjects of literature, history, geography, etc., and after that given whatever training suited to their particular abilities—vocational or otherwise.

Island W.I. Do Fine Work

Reports Presented At Mainland Conference Yesterday

Canadian Press
 Vancouver, Aug. 28.—Raising funds for the Solarium and for the Othos Scott Endowment Fund for crippled children, handicrafts and co-operation with schools were the major activities of the Vancouver Island Women's Institutes during the past year, according to a report by Mrs. J. D. Gordon of Victoria.

Mrs. Gordon pointed out the advantages of a city institute as exemplified in the Victoria branch, which maintains a rest room for country institute members, has a hospital visiting committee which keeps a watchful eye for institute members who might be in hospital, and extends invitations to the neighboring institutes to be present at meetings and social functions.

Highlights of other branch activities are: Comox members have been co-operating with local police in relief work; Denman Island secured a resident doctor and conducts pillow lace classes; Whaletown has conducted classes in Indian basket work; Qualicum established a public health service, which includes two public health nurses for five school districts, also adopted a crippled child at the Solarium.

Sayward supports a half-time nurse; Parksville has renovated the War Memorial and arranges for the care of an avenue of trees leading to it; Royal Oak has raised funds for an X-ray at the Solarium and bought a community hall, which is also a community centre.

Pender Island branch has co-operated with the Farmers' Institute in arranging a local fair; Saanich is the first branch to have a junior institute.

West Saanich owns a $4,000 hall. Lake Hill, Cobble Hill, Shawnigan, Sooke and Royal Oak have done mending and sponsored showers of fruit and vegetables for the Solarium.

Weddings

CROSBLEY-JAMES

Port Alberni, Aug. 28.—St. Joseph's Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Monday morning, August 24, when Alice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. James of this city, became the bride of Mr. Stanley Crosbley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Crosbley of Victoria. Rev. Father W. G. Smith performed the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, presented a charming picture in her gown of white lace cut on princess lines, with skirt flaring down from the knees, and bodice having a soft cowled neckline. The sleeves cut full to the elbow, fitted closely at the wrist, and finished in deep points over the hands. The bridal veil was of embroidered net caught to the hair with orange blossoms, and fell gracefully to the floor. Her bouquet was of American beauty roses and white anemones.

The bridesmaids, Mary Hutchinson and Vic. Moriaux, as bridesmaids, were dressed alike in pink taffeta featuring elbow-length capes. They wore white veils and carried pink and white spray of orange blossoms and carried pink gladioli and hydrangeas.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Lionel Crosbley, and Mr. Gerard James acted as usher. Mrs. E. Ramsay sang two appropriate solos to her own accompaniment.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to relatives and close friends. Later the young couple left via Qualicum on a motor tour of the island, the bride traveling in a white and blue ensemble. On their return they will reside in Port Alberni.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. J. Crosbley, mother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. E. Ramsay and Mr. Lionel Crosbley, all of Victoria.

BOWETT-TAYLOR

Central Seventh Day Adventist Church, Vancouver, was the setting for the wedding of Evelyn Mildred, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Taylor, and Mr. John Roy Bowett, son of Mr. T. F. Bowett, chaplain at Rest Haven Sanatorium, Sidney, and Mrs. Bowett. Rev. C. H. Castle officiated at the ceremony which took place on August 25 at 8:15 p.m.

Mr. Cecil T. Bowett was groomsmen and Miss Leola Castle played the wedding music. At the signing of the register, Mrs. A. Clark and Mr. Roy Hampton gave vocal selections. The ushers were Mr. Walter and Mr. Ronald Lindgren.

The bride, who was attended by little Ruby Lemarquand, flower girl, Curtis Wagner, page boy, and Miss Audrey Taylor and Miss Elvora Gundrum as bridesmaids, was gown in a pink taffeta over which her long veil of Brussels net cascaded softly. Her shower bouquet was composed of pink asters. Miss Taylor was in pink taffeta, and carried gladioli, while Miss Gundrum wore pale yellow net and carried gladioli and sweet peas. The little flower girl was in pale green net.

A reception followed at the home of Mr. J. W. Wagner, 3791 Inverness Street, at which Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Bowett assisted in receiving with the bride party. After a brief honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Bowett left for Shawnigan Lake, where Mr. Bowett is principal of Shawnigan Public School.

Papa Dionne Has Birthday

Canadian Press
 Callander, Ont., Aug. 28.—Papa Oliva Dionne, the world's most famous father, celebrated his thirty-second birthday yesterday and received a unique gift from the elder members of his family, the big brothers and sisters of the quintuplets.

The Dionne youngsters who could write have been signing autographs at their father's refreshment stand across from the Dafoe-hospital, home of the quint, and summer tourists slipped coins into their hands. The kiddies yesterday gave Papa Dionne their savings.

The eighth little man also was given a pink-and-white cake marked "happy birthday." Employees at the souvenir stand gave him a shaving set.

Institute Women Talk Marketing Problems

Delegates Ask Why B.C. Fruit Going to Waste When Imported Fruit Inferior; Hon. K. C. MacDonald

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Aug. 28.—Delegates to the convention of women's institutes in session here yesterday, turned, for a time, to discussion of British Columbia's fruit and vegetable marketing problems after hearing Hon. K. C. MacDonald and other speakers on the subject.

One delegate wanted to know why many Vancouver housewives canned imported peaches before the Okanagan crop with its superior flavor was on the market. Another said cantaloupes were going to waste on the ground in the Oliver district while Vancouver fruit shops displayed imported cantaloupes which also were said to be inferior in flavor to the British Columbia fruit.

Dr. MacDonald explained the marketing board set up under the Marketing Act.

Its principal function was to see that farmers mechanized their production at a reasonable profit, he said.

"You cannot expect people to live on the land, pay taxes and develop and maintain a decent citizenship if they get no return from the work of production," he declared. "It is of primary importance to all the people of this province that farmers get a fair price for their products, otherwise the vegetable industry will pass into the hands of the Oriental, which makes the white man's competition impossible owing to his higher standard of living."

J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, described manufacture of rayon and a substance used for transparent packaging covering from spruce.

He exhibited the various stages used in the manufacturing and declared there was a tremendous opportunity for this industry in the province. He also urged formation of Junior Women's Institutes.

Mrs. H. McGregor of Penticton, outlined results achieved from National Women's Institute conventions which she had attended. As the result of a British Columbia exhibit at one, many orders had come to the Vancouver Island weavers for hand-woven goods and to Summerland for pottery.

Mrs. George Murray of Lillooet described the work of the institute in the Cariboo and Peace River districts. In the former district a rest room is kept up at Prince George where school children are served with hot cocoa, dental and tonsil clinics are sponsored, and maternity kits are provided.

The Peace River has twenty institutes with 300 members, who arrange most of the community social events, run circulating libraries and sponsor dramatic and musical festivals, Mrs. Murray said.

Convention delegates later adjourned for tea at the Canada Pacific exhibition by the women's committee.

Represent Many Millions

To a marked degree has the "Morgan look" come down to Henry S. Jr., son of Henry Sturgis Morgan and grandson of J. P. Morgan. The lad is shown as he attended the Grand Circuit meeting at the Good Time track in Goshen, N.Y. And the girls with him bear a name almost as famed in financial circles as that of Morgan. They are Phyllis, left, and Elizabeth, right, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Harriman, granddaughters of the late E. H. Harriman, famed United States railroad magnate and banker.

Knapton, Betty Creffield, K. Knapton and E. Dunn.

An enjoyable joint birthday party was held recently for Mrs. Doris Heller and Mrs. G. Jameson at the home of the former on Dominion Road. Contests and dancing comprised the evening's entertainment. A buffet supper was served at midnight from an attractively decorated table in a color scheme of pink and white. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. W. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bayard, Mr. and Mrs. G. Jameson, Mr. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. W. Heller, Mr. H. Risley, Miss Evelyn Draper, Miss Pearl Jepson, Miss Cella Lewis, Miss Edith Hipwood and Messrs. Bob Smart, Trevor Lewis, Eddie Lewis and Langton Adams.

LUXTON

A successful hard times costume dance was held Wednesday evening in Luxton Hall. The couple winning the spot dance were Mrs. C. Rhodry and P. Rhodry. The drawings took place for the sugar raffle, proceeds of which will benefit the Luxton playground fund, the convener being Geo. Duncan. The winners were Miss Edith Woodruff, K. Duncan, Frank Rhodry, Mrs. G. Miller, W. Scott Jr., Mrs. McPhee and G. Ball. The prizes for costumes were G. Gorton, W. Spencer and R. McAllister. Prizes for costumes were awarded to Miss Shirley Smith, Stanley Wilkins, Mrs. J. Trace and Mrs. M. A. Morrow. Following the Sunday school service Sunday afternoon, a presentation was made to Miss Nola Masterson, who has been a teacher in the Sunday School for several years, and who is leaving shortly to take up residence in Toronto. G. Holdcroft, superintendent, made the presentation on behalf of scholars.

Health Safer in CCC Camps

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Life in CCC camps proved much safer than life in the surrounding communities when an epidemic of meningococcus meningitis occurred in Missouri and Kansas last summer.

Now it can be told to doctors and the public, and in the forthcoming issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, Capt. Dwight M. Kuhns of the Army Medical Corps, Fort Leavenworth, Kans., reports on the control measures adopted in three CCC camps when the disease broke out.

The CCC boys, in addition to the usual quarantine, daily medical examinations and inspection and sterilization of food and dishes, were treated early with antimeningococcus serum. Only one boy died, a mortality rate of 11 per cent. Outside the CCC camp, 83 per cent of the patients died.

Aside from the serum used, the most effective control measure at the camps was to do away with all crowding. A space of three feet between cots was required, and head to foot sleeping was initiated.

In the end 350 persons were given meningococcus filtrate to determine its value as a skin test and immunizing substance. None in the intervening ten months has developed meningitis, although at Tarkio, Mo., scene of the first outbreak, four cases developed among those not immunized.

In presenting this preliminary report, Capt. Kuhns states that in order to prove the value of the meningococcus filtrate as a skin test and immunizing agent it should be used in a large number of epidemics over a long period of time.

Couple Had Diamond Wedding

Celebration Held By Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Readings

Congratulations were extended by their many friends Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Readings, Bazar Bay Road, Sidney, on the occasion of their diamond wedding anniversary.

Mr. Readings was born in 1855 at Wokingham, Berkshire, England. Mrs. Readings, who was before her marriage Miss Rolfe, was born in 1857 at Tlleshurst, near Reading, Berkshire. The couple were married on August 26, 1876, at Woodcote, Oxfordshire, England.

A quiet anniversary re-union was held on Wednesday with just the family present, comprising ten children, twenty-two grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Messages of congratulations were received from England.

The family has resided in this district for twenty-seven years.

AMUSEMENT VOICED

London, Aug. 28.—Communist party headquarters here professed amusement yesterday on being informed William Gallacher, Communist member of Parliament, had been refused a United States visa.

Party leaders said Gallacher merely was interested in visiting his elderly sisters in the United States and had no plans for spreading Communist propaganda.

Gallacher now is in Alberta.

BORDEN RETURNS HOME

Quebec, Aug. 28.—Sir Robert Borden, Canada's war-time Premier, arrived in Quebec yesterday aboard the liner Empress of Britain, from the unweaving of the Canadian Memorial at Vimy. "It was a wonderfully interesting experience," Sir Robert said.

Tuberculosis W.A.—A special meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Tuberculosis Veterans will be held on Saturday, August 29, at 2:30 sharp in the T.V.A. clubrooms, 812 Blanchard Street. All members are urged to attend.

Lightning flashes travel at a speed of approximately 20,000 miles a second.

War Horrors Haunt Refugee

Rescued by plane from bomb-mensured Granada, Carola Goya, famous dancer, returned safely to America still shocked by the grim Spanish revolution scenes she had witnessed. Pictured on her arrival at New York, she told how a mother, wounded by a bomb, and her prematurely-born twins died in her arms.

LOST CHILDREN RACKET

Boston (Canadian Press)—Another racket was uncovered by the district police when the officer in charge counted forty belonging to lost children.

He said: "Some parents leave their children on the beach, watch until a policeman finds them and then go about enjoying themselves because they know the child is safe at headquarters. Then, when they are ready to go home they come here very excited and collect their offspring. Of course, many are really lost, but they usually are claimed within a short time."

APPROVE PLAN FOR NEW WORK

Oak Bay Authorizes New Gonzales Water Main and Mountjoy Avenue Paving

A programme of works which will require an expenditure of about $4,500 was authorized by the Oak Bay Council yesterday afternoon.

Chief among the items approved was the installation of a six-inch water main to provide improved facilities for residents of King George Terrace, in the Gonzales Heights section.

The municipality will lay in about 1,700 feet of the six-inch main to replace the present two-inch service, which is inadequate in view of recent building activity in this region. The job is estimated to cost $2,500. It may not be completed until next year.

Another important item approved by the council was the paving of Mount Joy Avenue from Central Avenue to Beach Drive.

TRIAL IMPROVEMENT
 This will be undertaken as a local improvement and the necessary by-law was given preliminary reading yesterday. The total cost of the work will be $1,500. Of this amount $500 will be paid by the municipality and the remainder will be assessed against the adjoining properties.

Works Superintendent Thomas Watt submitted a report on recent work accomplished by relief labor and outlined plans for the future. They include the cleaning out of Bowker Creek in anticipation of fall rains, and general sewer maintenance work.

Relief labor will be provided during the winter by the King George Terrace job, the undertaking being one which can be satisfactorily accomplished during the winter months.

LABOR DAY AT DUNCAN

Elks Plan Big Programme of Children's Events and Other Attractions

Duncan, Aug. 28.—An extensive programme of events, including children's parade and sports, flag-raising ceremony and a gymkhana, is planned by the Duncan Elks for Labor Day on September 7.

The day's programme will begin with a parade at 10:30 o'clock, headed by a clown band, and at 11 o'clock the flag-raising will be performed at Evans field.

The grand featured ruler of the Elks, A. McIntyre of Calgary, has expressed his intention of attending the celebration. Hon. A. Wells Gray has been invited to attend and give an address on the flag.

In the afternoon there will be horse racing and a gymkhana at the Cowichan Riding Club. Between horse races there will be children's sports.

The evening's events consist of a boxing game at 6 and a dance at 9.

WILL MOVE TO CHANGE ACTS

Amendments to Local Improvement and Municipal Acts Sought by Oak Bay

Amendments to the Local Improvements Act which would limit more than at present those who have to pay assessments for certain types of improvements is sought by the Oak Bay Council in a resolution which will be presented to the Union of British Columbia Municipalities Convention, which will meet in Vernon.

Under existing regulations it is now required that in the case of a sewer or drain being installed on a street, residents of both sides are required to pay, whether or not they benefit from it.

In most instances residents of both sides do receive benefits, but there are instances where only residents on one side are benefited yet those on the other side must also contribute.

Other amendments to the improvements act, dealing with the same matter, are sought.

FORESHORE CONTROL
 Under amendments to the Municipal Act, the council seek power to control foreshore rights with particular reference to occupation by squatters. This matter has been an issue with Oak Bay for several years, and if the resolution is passed and accepted by the government the municipality will receive the control it desires to eject objectionable squatters.

The council is also asking power under the Municipal Act to require sewer contractors and plumbers to lodge deposits to cover injury to streets and permit fees. While this practice is carried out in some municipalities at present, it is understood they have not the legal right to enforce it and it is only an act of good faith on the part of contractors.

TWO CHILDREN DROWNED

Shanghai, Aug. 28 (Canadian Press).—A private telegram from Chengtu today told of the drowning of two Canadian children during the recent disturbances in that region. Their fathers were Rev. G. E. Rackman and Dr. H. B. Collier, both missionaries attached to the United Church of Canada.

Details of the tragedy were not given in the telegram.

ISLAND PIONEER DIED YESTERDAY

Nanaimo, Aug. 28.—William B. Ferguson, resident of the district for the last forty-nine years, died yesterday afternoon at the home of his son, William, at Northfield. He was eighty-six years of age.

Surviving are his son and one daughter, Mrs. Charles McGarrigle, Northfield.

ISLAND FUTURE IS DISCUSSED

Bob Davis Advocates Airports and Conservation Before Bureau

Vancouver Island's tourist business came in for a thorough round table discussion at a meeting of the board of directors of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau yesterday afternoon, with Robert H. "Bob" Davis of The New York Sun as principal contributor and sport fishing and forest conservation as the chief subjects.

Mr. Davis, who returned to Victoria on Tuesday after a two-week trip up-island with George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, advocated two things:

First, the building of airports to provide facilities for the tourists of the future.

Second, the conservation of timber for the preservation of the beauty of the island's scenery and for the protection of streams and the fish that spawned in them.

He painted a picture of the time when people in "flying cars" would be "flying" across the Straits to Vancouver Island to go fishing, and quoted the case of two men who arrived at Campbell River by plane to fish while he was there, and of Admiral Sir Matthew Best, who made use of one of H.M.S. Apollo's two Hawker Ospreys for the same purpose.

DEPLETION OF STREAMS
 He warned in strong terms against the depletion of streams that would follow the random cutting of timber, the change in the climate and the ruination of sport fishing which would come with them.

"I think it is a terrible thing to deplete your forests all the time," he said. "There are towns in the United States that have vanished from the map, streams that have dried up and whole areas of soil that have been ruined with the disappearance of forests."

"Every time a tree is cut down you rob a man of a meal. For every 1,000 gallons decrease in the flow of your streams 1,000 fewer salmon can come up them."

CATHEDRAL GROVE
 Mr. Davis was especially emphatic about the need of preserving the Cathedral Grove from cutting. He was backed up in this contention by Mayor David Leeming, who was chairman of the meeting.

Mr. Davis spoke of Vancouver Island as "the most conspicuous spot in the world to advertise, push and keep on the map... the most pleasant single spot anywhere, mile for mile, accessible and next to a friendly nation."

Mayor Leeming thanked Mr. Davis for the valuable publicity which he has given the island in his books and columns.

Mark Woodruff, manager of the Portland Rose Festival, spoke briefly, expressing the friendship of his city for Victoria, and inviting Victorians to attend the festival.

He also spoke of the question of sport fish conservation, and told of the havoc played on the Columbia and other coast rivers by seines and fish traps.

Gordon Smith, provincial publicity commissioner, told the meeting of encouraging signs which he had seen throughout the province, especially in the Rockies and on Vancouver Island, for next year's tourist business.

"We can definitely look forward next year to an even better year than this," he told the directors.

TOURISTS MAY EXCEED 1929

Increase of 55.2 Per Cent in Visiting Cars Over Last Year Noted

"If this month holds up we shall be over 1929," George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, told a meeting of the directors of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau yesterday afternoon after he had given figures showing the increase in the arrivals of tourists cars over last year.

From January 1 to August 1 foreign cars entering Vancouver Island had been 55.2 per cent more numerous than in the same period last year, and had brought 60 per cent more passengers.

On the mainland of British Columbia the figures were 26.8 per cent for cars and 20 per cent for the people riding in them.

"In the last three years there has been a net increase of over 200 per cent," Mayor David Leeming told the meeting from the chair.

California, with 2,497 visiting cars, had more representatives than all the other states combined, the figures showed.

Cars from points as far as Japan, Hongkong and the Canal Zone were among the arrivals.

An invitation to attend a luncheon to be held on September 7 in the Empress Hotel, marking the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the British Columbia Library Association, was received by the Oak Bay Council yesterday.

Hillcrests Lift Island Senior A Softball Championship

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By FETE SALLAWAY

VICTORIA racing followers will not be given the benefit of the camera-eye at the Willows track next month if one is to go by what Johnny Park has to say in his daily racing column in The Vancouver Daily Province. According to Park, the racing officials have decided the overhead expenses would be too great to bring the equipment over here and as a result the usual finish judges will call the results at the eight-furlong mile plant. It was suggested in this column the other day that the camera-eye be brought over for the local meet. Yesterday Park had the follow-up in his "Turf Patter":

"Victoria fans are clamoring for the 'camera-eye' during the two September meetings at the Willows, but they will probably have to wait another year before it is introduced to island racing. Association officials are equally as anxious as Willows patrons to operate the camera this season, but the overhead expenses are much too high, particularly with a light mutual play and increased purses for the horsemen."

In our opinion the use of the camera-eye at the Willows would increase the public faith in racing and as a result the daily take at the mutuels would be greater. With a bigger take the cost of installing the camera equipment would be met and the association would have a more satisfied group of bettors. Horse racing in Victoria must pay or the association would discontinue operations. Why shouldn't the followers here have the same benefits given the mainland bettors?

Rode to work yesterday morning with Ollie Corbett and was heaving about the razing he intended to give the other boys where he works. And, by the way, he tells for the opposition. It appears that early in the baseball season Corbett predicted an all-New York series, and was taken for an awful ride by his co-workers. "They told me I was all wet," Corbett said. With the sensational sport of the New York Giants to top place in the National League and the New York Yankees already conceded the American League championship, Ollie's selection looks pretty rosy, and he intends to take full advantage of the opportunity to come back at his tormentors. But he doesn't want to forget those Chicago Cubs are still much in the fight.

One of the features of the United States amateur golf championship to be played next month will be the return to major competition of Jess Sweetser, who won the title back in 1922. It will be his first serious effort since 1922, when his health failed after he became the first native United States player to account for the British amateur crown.

Sweetser scored his first important victory in a decade in the William Rice Hochster memorial tournament at Quaker Ridge. He has obtained excellent results with a new set of irons and is putting beautifully. The Metropolitan Association has reduced his handicap from six strokes to two. Sweetser will be mighty formidable in eighteen-hole matches, but may find thirty-six a bit too much.

The metropolitan district has an idea that it has Lawson Little's successor in one of several youngsters.

Big Jim Weaver, ace of the current Pittsburgh mound staff, is one of the most superstitious hurlers in baseball. He always goes to the bench after warming up before going to the mound, rather than going to the hill direct. He wouldn't step on the foul line for all the tea in China, crossing over it cautiously.

Up-islanders to Play Lake Hill

In the first of a two-out-of-three game series, Lake Hill softball nine, cupholders in the winter division of the Sunday School League, will clash with the Ladysmith juniors, mid-island champions, for the lower island championship. The game will be played tomorrow evening at Victoria West Park beginning at 5:30 o'clock.

BOXING

New York—Baby Casanova, 129, Mexico, stopped Freddie Foran, 127, New York, one.
Dallas, Texas—Red Burman, 176, Baltimore, knocked out Bob Ford, 172, Miami, Arizona, six.

Duncan Nine In Second Straight Win Over Glows

Get to Lloyd Jones for Eighteen Hits and 11 to 4 Victory

Lamb and Pitt Hit Home Runs

Smashing out eighteen hits from the offerings of Southpaw Lloyd Jones, Hillcrest Lumber Company's nine defeated the Silent Glows, Victoria and lower island champions, 11 to 4, at the Athletic Park yesterday evening to capture the island senior A softball championship. The Hillcrests won the opening clash at Duncan last Sunday, 14 to 12, to take the series—in two straight games.

Playing before a large crowd the Hillcrests pounded the ball to all corners of the lot in their decisive victory. The Duncan squad was never on the short end of the count, and after taking the lead in the fourth played heads-up ball. The mid-islanders had two big innings, the fourth and ninth, when they collected three and four runs, respectively.

EVANS WINNING PITCHER
Elmer Evans, who worked the nine innings on the mound for Hillcrest, pitched winning ball after a streak of wildness in one opening innings. Evans worked a fast ball with a nice curve, and after his teammates gave him a good lead to work on he steadied down. He allowed eight hits, Jones, although he gave up eight-base knocks, did not receive any too good support from his teammates. Errors crept into their play at critical stages, and as a result the Hillcrests scored several unearned runs.

Two home runs were witnessed during the evening. Pitt, Hillcrest, and Lamb, Silent Glows, hitting for the circuit.
Hillcrest got one run in the first inning. Campbell hit for two bases and completed the circuit on a pair of wild heaves by Jones.

The Glows got back onto even terms in their half of the inning. Brown worked Evans for a walk and was sacrificed to second by Morgan. Jones beat out an infield hit, Brown going to third. Caddell singled to right field, scoring Brown. For the next two innings the clubs played scoreless ball.

VICTORIES IN LEAD
Hillcrest got three runs in the fourth, two of which were unearned. Strouger laced the ball down the third base line for a single. Pitt sacrificed the runner to second. Collier hit to right centre for two bases, scoring Strouger. Simpson lifted a high fly to right field and was sacrificed to second by Morgan. Collier crossing the plate. Timothy struck out. Campbell drove the ball through shortstop, scoring Simpson. Mills got a hit to right field and Lovell was safe on Ollie's error, loading the bases. Evans filed to Morgan for the third out.

Pitt's home run with Strouger on first gave the Hillcrests two more runs in the fifth. Silent Glows got back in the game with three runs in their half of the fifth. Morgan hit to left field and when the ball got away from Pitt it was good for three bases. Jones lifted to Evans. Lamb clouted a long hit to right centre for a home run. Caddell filed to Mills. Ollie was safe on Timothy's error and went around the bases on successive wild throws by Evans. Preston struck out. Hillcrest added another run in the eighth. Mills singled and scored on Lovell's three-base crash to right centre field. Lovell was caught at the plate trying to stretch it into a home run, on a beautiful throw from Morgan to Caddell.

The ninth inning saw Hillcrest go on another scoring spree to push four runs across the rubber. Evans, Strouger and Pitt greeted Jones with successive hits, the first named scoring. Another wild pitch by Jones advanced the base runners. Collier walked to fill the bases. Jones let the ball get away from him again and Strouger crossed the plate. Simpson grounded to Lamb. Timothy laced the ball through the box, scoring Collier. Campbell singled to short left field. Mills lifted to Morgan and Lovell forced Campbell at third to end the inning.

At the end of the game the Hillcrests were presented with the "Buz" Francis Perpetual Memorial Trophy.

TWO GOLD BUTTON SALMON CAUGHT

A new run of big spring salmon was in evidence in Saanich Inlet yesterday, if gold-button fish weighing over forty pounds are any indication. A. S. Searle, Westhaven, California, reeled in a forty-two pounder after a fifty-minute battle, while G. Hardy and "Slim" Stapcombe, a pair of local anglers, also reported the catching of a forty-two pound specimen.

Roy Henshaw Gives Cubs Fifth Victory in Row As Team Defeats Phillies; Boy Wonder Wins for Philadelphia Athletics

That the hurling of the Chicago Cub elbowers is tops again has been demonstrated since their return home.

They've won five straight, winding up with a 1 to 0 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday as Woe Henshaw recalled from bullpen exile, pitched a six-hitter, his first victory since July 2.

He was the fifth hurler in a row to go the route for the Cubs. The win boosted the Chicago crew into a tie for second place with the crippled St. Louis Cardinals who bowed to the Boston Bees for the fourth straight time, 1 to 0. Roy Parmelee pitched no-hit ball for seven innings, and allowed but three hits altogether, only to lose when Joe Coscarart's triple broke up the duel between himself and Danny MacFayden in the tenth inning.

Even the weather man seemed to have signed up on the New York Giants' side, raining out the last game of the Cincinnati series to give them a day off when the whole outfit showed signs of weakening under the boiling western sun.

TO PLAY-OFF AT HOME

The postponement forced the play-off onto the Giants' home grounds later, where the New Yorkers will have a decided advantage. The New York Yanks maintained their twelve and a half game edge in the American League by knocking off the St. Louis Browns 7 to 1 behind Johnny Broasca's three-hit pitching, while the second-place Cleveland Indians had to go ten innings to overcome the Washington Senators 10 to 9.

Connie Mack uncovered a "boy wonder" possibility in eighteen-year-old Randall Gumpert, recent high school graduate from up-state Pennsylvania, who moved down the Chicago White Sox with two hits to give the Philadelphia Athletics a 5 to 2 win in his first big-league start. Tommy Bridges chalked up his eighteenth hurling victory, pitching a four-hit, 4 to 2 win for the Detroit Tigers over the Boston Red Sox.

Van Mungo ran into his customary hard luck as the Brooklyn Dodgers fell apart again, committed four errors, and lost to the Pittsburgh Pirates 6 to 3.

COAST LEAGUE

An eleven-inning victory today moved Portland into a two-game lead in the Coast League race, while four other teams struggling for three remaining first division berths were separated by the margin of two contests.

Aided by Manager Bill Sweeney's deciding homer with one on base, the Beavers trimmed the San Francisco Seals, 5 to 3.

San Diego went into a tie for second with Seattle as its 3 to 2 victory over Oakland was decided by another home run. The Seattle Indians took their second licking in a row from Los Angeles 8 to 4.

San Francisco's Missions took undisputed possession of fourth place by defeating Sacramento, 7 to 4. For their sixth victory in a row, which has been frequent all season, and which is more than ever likely as six clubs struggle to get into the Shaughnessy play-off, struck in Seattle and San Diego last night. Don Hurst and Jimmy Reese were bounced out of the Los Angeles lineup for arguing a decision with umpire Engel and Powell, while Hal Haid, Oakland coach, was ejected in San Diego.

Salmonbellies Whip Adanacs to Enter Intercity League Play-offs

New Westminster, Aug. 28.—New Westminster's Salmonbellies yesterday evening clinched a berth in the Intercity Box Lacrosse League play-offs as they handed New Westminster Adanacs a 17 to 15 defeat in the last game of the regular season. Playoffs will start September 7. Salmonbellies, meeting the second-place Richmond Farmers, in the semifinal series, the winners tangling with the league-leading North Shore Indians in the final for the league supremacy.

Salmonbellies started at a fast clip, rattled in 5 goals to Adanacs' 3 in the first quarter and led 10 to 7 at the half. The Fishmen went on to score 5 more in the third quarter, while Adanacs collected 4, but had to concentrate on defence in the final session as the Adanacs came in en masse in an unsuccessful attempt to tie the count.

Jack Wood, Bill Wilkes, Johnny Vernon and Bill Wilson all starred for the winners with three goals apiece, while Saunders, Smith and Miller each collected to lead in the Adanacs scoring column.

SERVED SEA
MANY YEARS

"Tommy" Goldsmith, Veteran of Waterfront, Died at His Home This Morning

Oliver T. Goldsmith, one of the best known shipping figures in Victoria, whose association with the local marine fraternity extended over a period of fifty years, died suddenly at his home at the Outer Docks today. He was seventy years of age.

Born in London, England, "Tommy" Goldsmith went to sea when he was seventeen years of age and after roaming the high seas in various sailing ships he came to Victoria in 1887. After settling here for a short time Mr. Goldsmith went to the United States, and for several years resided at Salt Lake City and in California. He then returned to Victoria and opened the Montana Restaurant at the Outer Docks, and built up a business which was the mecca of seafaring men in those days.

AT TWENTY-FIVE YEARS, Mr. Goldsmith represented the C.P.R. at the William Head quarantine station, having sole charge of the commissariat in connection with the quarantining of passengers arriving at this port from the Orient.

One of his biggest jobs in this connection was the housing and feeding of the Chinese labor corps, which were transported from China across the Pacific and sent on to France and Belgium from the concentration camp at William Head, where thousands of Chinese coolies were accommodated at various stages of the Great War.

Recognized as one of the best posted men on shipping on the North Pacific coast, Mr. Goldsmith also took a liking to shipping news reporting, and for many years acted as the special correspondent of The San Francisco Exchange.

Few men knew more about the inner workings of the pilotage business than Mr. Goldsmith, who was identified with the pilots here from the days of the old Nanaimo pilotage authority and the Victoria pilotage prior to the formation of the B.C. Pilotage Authority.

He served the pilotage authority here in various capacities over a period of many years, and was actively employed up to June 7 last, when he was forced to remain at home because of sickness. Although he had been ailing for some time, the end was very sudden, and came as a shock to the host of friends in the city and district.

His home was a veritable museum of the old shipping days on the North Pacific with the walls hung with pictures of sailing ships he had sailed in and mementoes picked up during his long association with the sea and sea life.

He knew all the skippers and officers of ships which sailed the Pacific through his long service on the waterfront. His passing will be a distinct loss to the community.

Mr. Goldsmith is survived by a widow, one daughter, Margaret, and one son, Oliver, the latter being well-known in sporting circles, particularly in the basketball field. Bruce, another son, died sixteen years ago. The funeral will take place on Sunday.

Leading teams in the table each have one game to play before the season ends, but results will not affect Derbyshire's position at the top.

The general meeting of the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion will be held Tuesday evening next at 8 o'clock in the branch headquarters, View Street.

BIG GAINS IN
FISH CATCHES

Fraser River Sockeye Pack Highest in Several Years; B.C. Total Up

British Columbia fishermen this year are experiencing one of their most successful seasons in recent years, figures released today by the fisheries department revealed.

Led by a phenomenal run in the Fraser River the total sockeye salmon pack up to August 22 was 387,170 cases. Last year it was 310,635 cases.

The Fraser River pack so far is 145,297 cases, three times as much as last year's catch of 45,144 cases. In 1934 it was 60,225 cases, 1933 45,423 cases and 1932 56,200 cases.

The Skeena River area is second in production with a total of 95,856 cases to date. This pack during recent years was: 1935, 61,690 cases; 1934, 69,288; 1933, 29,205; 1932, 35,099.

ISLAND IS THIRD The Vancouver Island area is third with a production of 49,181 cases, nearly twice as much as last year's pack of 25,864 cases. In 1934 it was 26,176 cases; 1933, 22,023, and 1932, 22,990.

The total pack of all varieties to date is 1,122,872 cases, a tremendous gain over the total of 831,870 last year. 814,391 in 1934, 721,105 in 1933 and 685,690 in 1932.

The pilchard run this year has been fair. The gross tonnage shows an increase over last year but oil content is running considerably below average, which has been quite a blow to buyers who had anticipated an increase in proportion to the meal catch.

The total production of meal to date is 4,375 tons and the oil production is 414,435 gallons. In 1935 it was 4,353 tons of meal and 752,987 gallons of oil.

The chum salmon run has not started in full swing yet but general expectations are it will be fairly good.

In the River's Inlet and Smith's Inlet regions this year's salmon catches have been below expectations owing to strike troubles there. The sockeye pack at River's Inlet was less than a third of last year and only 10,000 cases have been taken from Smith's Inlet, where a pack of 20,000 cases was expected.

Alice Faye and Adolphe Menjou Star in New Picture
"Sing, Baby, Sing"

Twentieth Century-Fox, producers of "Thanks A Million," the cinematic combination of melody, hilarity and romance, which was such a pronounced success, are said to top their previous triumph in a million ways with "Sing, Baby, Sing," opening today at the Capitol Theatre.

Featuring one of the greatest collections of comedians ever cast together in one picture, a veritable hit parade of songs, and a riotously funny story, "Sing, Baby, Sing," is being hailed as one of the most entertaining pictures ever produced in Hollywood.

Alice Faye, Adolphe Menjou, Gregory Ratoff, Ted Healy, Patsy Kelly, Michael Whalen and the Ritz Brothers
head the cast.

Border Bar Is

Called Scandal

W. Gallacher, British Communist Now in Alberta,
Not Allowed in U.S.

Canadian Press
Drumheller, Alta., Aug. 28.—"It is an unspeakable scandal to treat a person that way," William Gallacher, Scottish Communist member of the Parliament of Great Britain, said in an interview here regarding the refusal of the United States Government to permit him to enter that country.

"I know of no country in the world where such an attitude is adopted.
I could not find suitable language to express an opinion as to what I think."

At Washington yesterday it was explained the action was taken under the Immigration Act prohibiting entry of persons who are members of groups organized to overthrow established governments by force. Gallacher was described as a member of the executive committee of the Communist International.

Gallacher said he wanted to make the trip to Chicago to attend a family reunion and visit his sisters, Mrs.
Craig and Mrs. Wilson. Tomorrow the son of Mrs. Craig is to be married.

"I asked for a special visa for the one day in order to attend the wedding, and that was all I wanted to enter for," Gallacher said.

"I know better than even to contemplate speaking or entering political discussion under such a request. My nephew was president of the students' body while attending university, and now is to be an ordained minister.

"My sisters have no associations with my political views."

British Train

Makes Record

London, Aug. 28.—The streamlined Silver Jubilee express of the London and North Eastern Railway, running from Newcastle-on-Tyne to London today, established a new speed record for British trains by reaching a maximum speed of 113 miles an hour.
The train, excluding the engine, passengers and baggage, weighed 270 tons. The figure is believed to be a world record for a steam-hauled passenger train.

It was attained on a falling gradient of one in 264.

AT DOMINION

Hollywood Star, Now Holi-daying in Victoria, in "The Bride Walks Out"

"The Bride Walks Out," Barbara
Stanwyck's new starring vehicle, opens today at the Dominion.

The story deals with the trials and tribulations of a pair of newlyweds, portrayed by Miss Stanwyck and Gene Raymond, who try to limit their expensive housekeeping ideas to a budget, while they endure the blandishments of a careless young millionaire, enacted by Robert Young, aimed at breaking up their scrappy home.

The titian-haired Miss Stanwyck, as the pleasure-loving bride, displays brilliant ability as a comedienne. And her performance is all the more brilliant for the competition she has at the hands of such accomplished farceurs as Messrs. Raymond and Young, and those of Ned Sparks and Helen Broderick, who, as a long and bitterly-married couple, provide much of the mirthful background of the film.

Also being shown in the second feature is Richard Dix in "Yellow Dust," starring Leila Hyams.

PLAZA THEATRE

Wallace Beery wrestled with an 800-pound Bengal tiger for a week at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer—and never got a scratch.

He tripped over a tiger rug at home
—and got a black eye!

"I'll take a real tiger every time," says Wally ruefully.

Wally, who plays an animal trainer in "O'Shaughnessy's Boy," now showing at the Plaza Theatre, has taken advantage of his early circus training to make some smashing scenes with the elephant-tiger act, around which the action revolves.

Larry "Buster" Crabbe makes a dashing cowboy of the old West in Paramount's new six-gun drama,
"Nevada," which is being shown at the Columbia Theatre with Kathleen Burke in the feminine lead.

The picture, laid in the Arizona of about 1800 when cattle-rustlers all but ruined the section's ranchers, also has in its cast Sid Saylor, Monte Blue, Raymond Hatton and Glenn Erikson.

ATLAS THEATRE

"Champagne Charlie," is now at the Atlas Theatre. With Paul Cavanagh in the title role, it tells the story of a man who played at love, gambling with life, who wooed and won—only to lose.

Helen Wood is the heroine of the picture. A charming brunette from Tennessee, she plays her first major role in "Champagne Charlie" as an ingenuous dollar princess whom Cavanagh has marked as his benefactor.

Tarzan And The Leopard Men

When the great tree which had sheltered them crashed earthward, Tarzan tossed Nkima to safety in the branches of another jungle giant. There the little monkey crouched in an agony of terror, whimpering pitifully as the storm whipped the mighty forest in all its overwhelming fury.

While the tornado raged, Nkima was motionless except for the fear-induced tremors which shook his small body. Soon, however, the thunder rolled away in the distance. The lightning flashes grew dimmer. The rain settled down to a gentle patter. The wind trailed off eastward to new conquests.

Sensing the departure of the storm, Nkima ventured in search of Tarzan, his master. But now a new fear gripped him—fear of the great savage creatures of the jungle which had a taste for tender monkey meat. From time to time he called plaintively, "Tarzan! Master! Tarzan!"

It was dark. Little Nkima could see nothing beyond a few feet from the end of his generous, sensitive nose. When his master did not answer, he was filled with dire forebodings; but presently he found Tarzan pinned to the earth by the fallen tree—silent, and still as the stillness of death!

What It Takes to Make a Home

Declares Love Is the First Element

WHAT DOES IT TAKE to make a real home? You can't make one just with stones and bricks, for there are no more homes than a shop or a jail or a museum. There are shabby $10-a-month cottages that men and women remember as home through a lifetime.

You can't make a home just by good housekeeping, for there are houses in which every meal is a feast, where every floor is swept and scrubbed and garnished, where every chair is in its appointed place and yet from which husbands and children flee as if from a purgatory. And there are other houses in which the food is always ill-cooked, where disorder and confusion reign and yet which is a home to which tired men and restless children turn as to a sanctuary from the world.

You can't make a home just by assembling the family units of husband, wife and children under a roof, for there are families that are no more than a collection of people that are hell on earth. There are family circles bound together not only by relationships, but by tenderness, affection and mutual helpfulness. There are other family circles filled with strife and antagonism and a sort of blood hatred. There are homes to which children return as a bird to its nest, and other homes from which the children shake the dust off their feet as soon as they are able and to which they never go back.

So what does it take to make a home, this thing that we all crave more than anything else in life and which we all try to fashion with our bungling hands, and which sometimes turns out a success and sometimes a failure?

It takes, first, love. The love of a husband and wife, the love of parents and children, the love of brothers and sisters. Love is the fire on the hearthstone, the light in the window that makes a home warm and bright. Without it everything is cold and bleak and as inhospitable as the tomb. There is nothing at which you can warm yourself. The married couple who have only a lukewarm liking for each other and whose children are unwanted cannot make a home. They only build a house.

To make a home takes teamwork. No man can make a home, no matter how domestic he is; no matter how much money he pours into it; no matter how many gadgets he puts in the bathroom; no matter how much he cuts the grass and trims the vines; no matter how amiable and sweet-tempered he is. If he is married to a high-tempered and nagging wife, or to a woman who regards housework as drudgery, or to one who spends her time on causes or clubs.

Nor can any woman make a home, though she cooks like a chef, pinches pennies and smiles like a Chinese cat, if she is married to a grouchy or a tightwad, or a philanderer, or one who regards a home as the service station to go to for repairs. The only real homes you ever see are those made by a man and woman working together, shoulder to shoulder, and putting their backs and their hearts into the job.

It takes peace to make a home. It must be a place of serenity and quiet, a snug harbor in which the members of a family may drop anchor after the storms of the day. Its tranquility must be so impregnable that the worries of life beat up against it, but break away from its door.

The house that is filled with bickering and strife and quarreling, where the husband and wife are at each other's throats and the children fight like cats and dogs, where the daily spat is as much a part of the breakfast regime as the coffee and where nobody can make even the most innocent remark without starting something is not a home. It is a madhouse.

It takes cheerfulness to make a home. There must be laughter and gaiety and music and dancing in it. Its inmates must turn a smiling face on life, no matter how it buffets them. They must have learned how to make the best of the things they have and not grouch over their disappointments. They must have learned how to tell a funny story instead of a tale of woe.

There are houses which you dread to enter because the air is always so filled with gloom and where all that you hear are lamentations over broken banks and postmortems over dead and gone sorrows, and you turn from them thankfully to enter the homes that are really homes, where the atmosphere is so saturated with sunshine that you go away feeling that God is in His Heaven and all's right with the world.

It is a big job making a home. And the finest there is. Pity so few men and women know how to do it.

Uncle Wiggily Has a Laugh

By HOWARD E. GARIS

"Don't go so fast! You're losing me!"

A little mouse girl called this to her mother and Uncle Wiggily who were hurrying through the woods.

"What's that?" asked the rabbit gentleman, stopping a moment to twiddle his pink nose.

"That's Sniffy," said the mother mouse. "She's the smallest of my children and can't go quite as fast as the others."

"Then we must wait for her," said Mr. Longears kindly as he leaned against a mossy stump in the woods. Truth to tell, he was a little out of breath himself from hopping fast to get the mouse family to a safe place and out of a "well," said Mr. Longears. "Where is Sniffy?"

"Here she comes!" squeaked several of the other mice children.

"Oh, dear!" said little Sniffy as she came along quite out of breath. "I thought you were trying to lose me."

"Oh, never that, Sniffy, my dear," said her mother.

"Sniffy! What a funny name," said Uncle Wiggily.

"I call her that because she is such a good sniffer and sniffer," said the mouse lady. "Sniffy can smell cheese a long way off."

"I wish I could smell some now," said the little mouse girl.

"When I get you moved to a safe place where those pussy cat and puppy boys can't find you, I'll bring you some cheese," promised the bunny.

"Oh, goodie! goodie!" squeaked all the little mice.

"Come along, now," said Uncle Wiggily. "We'll go a bit slower."

Soon he had led Mrs. Mouse through the cool quiet woods to a safe place near his hollow-stump bungalow. He found a hole where, once, Baby Bunty the orphan rabbit had tried to dig a well.

"I think you can make this into a new home for your family, Mrs. Mouse," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, yes, I can, thank you," she answered. "Help me dig the hole deeper and farther underground. Then those pussies and puppies can't find us." Sniffy, begging Uncle Wiggily's pardon, whispered to her mother. Mrs. Mouse laughed and said:

"Sniffy hopes you won't forget the cheese."

"I'll get it right away," promised Mr. Longears. He hopped into his hole and got some cheese from Nurse Jane and when he had taken it back to the new home he was safely under the earth. Mrs. Mouse came up to get the cheese and thanked Uncle Wiggily very much.

WILL HAVE A LAUGH

"That's all right," he said. "I'll go back now and have a laugh."

"What are you going to laugh at?" asked Mrs. Mouse.

"I'm going to laugh," said Uncle Wiggily. "at how surprised those pussies and puppies will be when they start digging out the hole where you formerly lived. Ha! Ha! Ha!"

Uncle Wiggily went back to the place where, as he told you, he had fooled them. He hopped into his hole and found that because Mrs. Mouse down the hole, the pussies and puppies weren't good diggers they left to get Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow.

Just as Uncle Wiggily reached the old mouse hole and hid behind the bushes, along came the cats and dogs.

"There's the hole the mouse went down," said Joe, pointing to it.

He and Jackie dug and dug and dug. They scattered the dirt with their paws. They made a big hole in the ground, but not a mouse did they find. "There's no mouse here!" barked Peetie. Jackie said the same thing.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. Then the animal boys knew he had fooled them. And if the street lamp doesn't try to come in the house to get out of the rain, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the dragon fly.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

SATURDAY, AUGUST 29, 1936

Conflicting planetary influences are marked today, according to astrology, but benefic aspects dominate in the early hours.

Troops between capital and labor are forecast and there may be great activity in industry, especially in iron and steel centres.

Farmers are well directed under this rule of the stars, which is read as presaging a new leader in agricultural affairs. Food prices will rise sharply before snow-fall, it is indicated.

Women are fortunate under this configuration, which encourages their ambitions and aids them in successful initiative. Many will enter public service as an early date.

This is a lucky wedding day, although perils await rivals whose love affairs may start under this way.

This is an auspicious date for looking after one's wardrobe. Shopping should be most satisfactory, although sharp rises in prices of many fabrics are forecast.

It is not a fortunate date for seeking employment, especially if a reasonable salary is desired. Young college graduates will be chosen in place of experienced workers who demand advance in income.

Subtle forces will eliminate older men and women from new activities and not unfair policies of age discrimination, astrologers explain.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of perplexing financial conditions. Speculation will be most unfortunate, although aid may be expected in the event of heavy losses.

Children born on this day probably will be talented, studious and endowed with a sense of humor. Subjects of this sign may reach the heights through special gifts.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, author, poet and teacher of anatomy, was born on this day, 1809. Other who have celebrated their birthday include Maurice Maeterlinck, (Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Oak Bay Against Any Auto Camps

The Oak Bay Council yesterday took a definite stand against having any auto camps erected in the municipality. The council authorized amendments to the municipal zoning regulations which will prohibit construction of the camps within the confines of the municipality.

The action followed a request made to the zoning appeal board for consent to erect an auto camp of four double cabins on Beach Drive, near Goodwin Street.

The plan offered with the request did not conform with the by-law but could do so with amendment. The council's action will forestall the possibility of the camp being authorized.

Pirates Seize Ship, Kill, Hold Hostages

Big Passenger Ships Take on Special Guards As Precaution in China Sea

The big passenger liners, as a precautionary measure, always carry special guards on that leg of the Pacific voyage between Hongkong and Shanghai.

Police officers, with guns ready, are posted on the bridge, in the wireless room, at the entrance to the engine room, the three focal points of the ship. Here they are on guard night and day during the forty-eight hour run along the China coast between the two ports.

Never have any of the big ships, like the Empresses or the Presidents, been attacked, but passengers always feel reassured when they see the armed guards.

The stowage passengers are always closely checked in Orient waters. Steamship officials are ever on the alert to be sure that none of the passengers, when once the ship is out at sea, will turn pirate.

MANY JUNKS
The China Sea abounds in junks, and it would be quite possible for a group of pirates, disguised as passengers on a liner, to work in co-operation with other pirates on the junks at sea. At a given time the pirates on the passenger liner would suddenly seize the ship, the junks would come alongside with more pirates and in a short time officers, crew and passengers would be prisoners.

It is a guard against any possibility of this sort that the big liners take on guards for the China Sea. The guards—members of the police forces of Hongkong and Shanghai—are different each voyage. They like the job, for it gives them a week's holiday every now and then. The Shanghai guards go as far as Hongkong and wait there a few days while the liner proceeds to Manila and back. Then they rejoin the ship for the return trip to Shanghai.

Open Regatta Being Planned
All boat owners of Victoria and vicinity are invited by the Royal Victoria Yacht Club to an open regatta, to be held at Cadboro Bay on Labor Day, it was announced this morning.

There will be races for all classes of boats from 10 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock in the afternoon. In the evening there will be a flannel dance at the clubhouse.

Those intending to enter any of the events are asked to send their registrations to F. C. Adams, secretary of the Yacht Club, as soon as possible. Tomorrow afternoon at Cadboro Bay will be the first of the series of three of team racing. There will be two teams of four boats each.

CONFEDERATES WAITED
Off the Shantung coast, near the mouth of the Yellow River, forty-three pirates easily took over the Empress of Britain, which was en route to Hongkong.

They steered for a cove, where the confederates waited.

There they ransacked the ship and passengers, chose likely prospects for ransom and escaped up the Yellow River with six British, twenty Chinese and a Japanese prisoner.

Despite Chinese efforts and foreign naval patrols the plundering and killing has been unchecked for centuries.

Blas Bay, north of Hongkong, is a famous pirate stronghold, and a den is said to have existed for years within twenty miles of Shanghai. Periodically authorities raid it, shoot its occupants and seize their weapons, but new gangs collect faster than they can be erased.

The cost of repairs to the vessel is estimated at $90,000. H. Bald, a representative of the Kingsley Navigation Company, is in Seattle in connection with the survey.

Ss. Texada Is Badly Damaged

Seattle, Aug. 28.—Survey of the freighter Texada of the Kingsley Navigation Company, which went ashore August 13 on Eagle Reef, a short distance south of McNeill Island, Puget Sound, made on drydock at the plant of the Winslow Marine Railway and Shipbuilding Company, showed that she is extensively damaged, it was revealed today.

The cost of repairs to the vessel is estimated at $90,000. H. Bald, a representative of the Kingsley Navigation Company, is in Seattle in connection with the survey.

Set Date For Yacht Races

First for America's Cup July 24, Although New York Yacht Club Would Like Later Date

New York, Aug. 28.—The first race for the America's Cup between T. O. M. Sopwith's British challenger Endeavor II and a United States defender will be held on July 24, 1937.

This was confirmed yesterday by officials of the New York Yacht Club, who were bound under the mutual consent clause to agree to the dates set by the challenger.

It was understood club officials would have preferred a later date because at least one defense candidate, a boat being built by a syndicate headed by Harold Stirling Vanderbilt, skipper of the Rainbow in the last series of the cup, and the winner, is still in the blueprint stage.

The Endeavor was launched some weeks ago in England and has been sailing extensively all summer.

Young Navy Man Demoted

Washington, Aug. 28.—Court-martialed for losing confidential naval documents, Lieutenant William A. Moffett, Jr., son of the Rear Admiral Akron, has been demoted fifty places on the navy's seniority list.

The twenty-six-year-old naval aviator was accused of carelessness in the loss of the papers, which disappeared from his automobile several months ago.

Moffett, who had borrowed the papers to make advance preparation to pass the examination for senior lieutenant, declined comment, saying the whole matter was "confidential."

His father, Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, former chief of naval aeronautics, was killed in the crash of the dirigible Akron several years ago. His elder brother, George H. Moffett, also is a lieutenant, serving aboard the aircraft tender Owl, based at Norfolk, Va.

No Inquiry Into Yacht Explosion

Halifax, Aug. 28.—An official inquiry into an explosion and fire on the schooner yacht Kinross, which brought injury to eleven persons, probably would not be necessary, Fire Marshal J. A. Rudland said yesterday.

Meanwhile all the injured, six of whom were thrown into Halifax Harbor by the explosion, were reported out of danger, and two children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry MacKeen, junior (five) and David (three) were discharged from hospital. Still in hospital were Mr. and Mrs. David MacKeen, Rose Marie (seven) and Marjorie (five); Mrs. Harry MacKeen, wife of the owner of the yacht, and her four-year-old daughter, Christina; Harold Stephens of Halifax and Engineer Arthur Lantz.
